Spending its last moments as a city landmark, giant cottonwood at McClure and Blanshard waits for cable from John Kissinger's "cat" to go taut before it comes crashing to the ground. Tree was ordered removed by the city following months of debate.

Canada, U.S. Trade Atomic Information

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP)—Chairman Gordon Dean of the Atomic Energy Commission disclosed tonight that an exchange of atomic secrets "beneficial to the United States" has been carried out with Canada.

He did not say what information was involved.

Speculation immediately arose that the exchange might involve information on Canada's famed "heavy water" reactor described by U.S. officials as the most advanced design in that field of atomic research—for use on this country's H-bomb project.

Dean said an "interchange" of information with Canada has been made in the last few weeks the first with any country since the U.S. Atomic Energy Act was amended last year to permit a somewhat less restricted exchange of atomic data with "friendly nations."

The law still prohibits giving information, he said, on "the design and fabrication of atomic weapons."

Dean's announcement followed recent Canadian complaints that the exchange of atomic information with the United States was "virtually a one-way flow of traffic" from Canada.

Ottawa reports said Canada is believed to have turned over to the United States information expected to be of importance in the proposed U.S. hydrogen bomb project.

Chalk River's unique heavy-water reactor or atom-splitting nuclear furnace is likely to serve in important ways as the model for a reactor for the H-bomb project.

Canada is understood to have turned over to the U.S. fundamental information of potential value to that project in return for information for her own non-military atomic program.

In a dying gesture of vengeance, the tree digs a hole in the road whose construction makes removal necessary. First topped by tree surgeons, it was removed under supervision of the parks department. City Engineer Cyril Jones recommended removal of the tree to make completion of road construction at the intersection possible. — (Colonist photos by Bud Kinsman.)

Assistant Engineer Resigns; Staff Inefficiency Charged

By RAY BAINES

A probe into the public works department has resulted in the resignation of the assistant engineer and charges and counter-charges of inefficiency in the staff.

City council executive committee yesterday accepted the resignation of Assistant Engineer J. G. Archer, who stated in his letter of resignation that "conditions were intolerable."

Acceptance of the resignation was recommended "with regret" by City Manager Cecil Wyatt following a survey of the department made by himself and Ald. Percy Scurrah.

Mr. Archer said he "had nothing against the engineer (Cyril Jones) and nothing against the public works department."

Reason for recommendation to accept Mr. Archer's resignation has been given as lack of proper professional qualifications for the job.

ANOTHER JOB

It is understood that works superintendent W. J. Carter may be moved to another job as a result of the investigation. It was suggested yesterday that his knowledge of carpentry (he was formerly chief carpenter) might qualify him "as an excellent building supervisor."

The probe was originally ordered because of complaints of inefficiency in public works projects and reports of dissension within the staff.

"It has been a very disagreeable job, but I've tried to be fair," said Ald. Scurrah, who undertook, in his capacity as public works chairman, to assist the manager.

During discussion a letter was read from Mr. Jones denying charges of dissension and inefficiency.

"I have fully examined the statements and charges brought to these discussions and am not prepared or able to recommend the removal of either of these members of my staff from their posts as a means of improving the organization of the department," the engineer wrote.

He was referring, apparently, to a previous recommendation from the executive committee that Mr. Archer and Mr. Carter be removed from their jobs.

The engineer said he had gathered his 35-man staff together yesterday morning to determine if there was any feeling of dissatisfaction in the department. This had been previously attributed to their working under an unqualified engineer.

He said that no one member of the staff admitted to complaining to any alderman of the situation.

As to the organization and performance of the department, Mr. Jones admitted that "neither is perfect" and that "our many critics . . . are more frequent than I would wish."

"Arrangements have already been made by revision of routines, particularly accounting routines, to lessen the incidence of these mistakes," he concluded.

Ald. Skillings was evidently not impressed.

"This letter is an absolute insult to our intelligence," he declared. "The engineer is trying to whitewash a department which everyone knows is in a chaotic condition."

He added that the letter refuted "everything we know is so."

"As far as I'm concerned, I want to go on record as going along with the idea that this is just a start," he said.

It was agreed that review of the department will continue.

"It's very nice for a man to be loyal to his staff," said the mayor in reference to the engineer's letter, "but a man's first duty is loyalty to the council which appoints him and to the people who elect the council."

U.S. Aid Bolsters U.K. Defense Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP).—A $300,000,000 aid grant to Britain "to support the United Kingdom defense program" was announced tonight by Mutual Security Director W. Averell Harriman.

The funds, from the new $7,328,903,976 Mutual Security Act, will be used almost entirely for "raw materials and components" purchased up to next July 1.

France has announced she expects to receive a grand total of about $600,000,000 in American direct aid and in dollars spent this fiscal year in France by the United States for military installations and similar purposes.

Officials said no direct comparison was possible between the French and British shares of the defense program.

Britain had asked for $600,000,000, pleading that because of her current financial plight, the British defense program might have to be curtailed unless U.S. aid were forthcoming.

Harriman told the Senate foreign relations committee that without the grant "it would be necessary for the United Kingdom to reduce its defense program by more than twice as much."

"In light of the fact that the British now are producing more military equipment than all other European N.A.T.O. countries combined, it is considered particularly important that such a reduction in its defense program should not have to be made," Harriman said.

He said that as part of the arrangement for the grant, Britain agreed to supply an equivalent amount in sterling currency to the maintenance of her defense production program.

Churchill Gives Defense Post To Alexander

LONDON, Jan. 29 (Tuesday) (AP).—Field Marshal Viscount Alexander, former Governor-General of Canada and one of Britain's most famous soldiers, was named today to take over the post of defense minister from Prime Minister Winston Churchill.

Lord Alexander will take over the ministry March 1. Meantime, Mr. Churchill himself will continue to hold the post. Mr. Churchill returned to London today from his visits to Washington and Ottawa.

The 60-year-old hero of the Second World War, whose grand strategy paved the way for defeat of the Axis in North Africa, retired Sunday night from his Canadian post.

The defense ministry appointment had been expected. Mr. Churchill took the defense portfolio when his Conservative government was returned to power last October, but it was predicted that because of the Prime Minister's age—77—and the press of his other duties, he would pick someone else.

Russia Scores Pact

LONDON, Jan. 29 (Tuesday) (CP)—The official Soviet news agency, Tass, said today a note handed envoys of United States, Britain and France in Moscow Monday charged that the proposed Middle Eastern defense pact "means entanglement of countries of the Near and Middle East in the preparation of new world war."

In a report received here, Tass said the Russian note claimed the Middle East defense plans were aimed at transforming Egypt, Syria, Lebanon, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Yemen, Israel and Jordan into a "military base of the armed forces of the states heading the Atlantic Pact."

"Formation of a Middle East command is aimed at encirclement of the Soviet Union and the people's democracies and is a further widening of plans for the preparation of war," the Russian note continued.

Russia branded as "false" a four-power contention in December that the Middle Eastern command is being organized "for the purpose of aiding countries of that region to safeguard and protect their independence and freedom."

Cabinet Pledges Order in Egypt

CAIRO, Jan. 28 (CP)—A noisy, cheering Egyptian parliament tonight unanimously approved the new independent government of Aly Maher Pasha, still dedicated to ousting British forces and taking over the Sudan, but pledged to restore law and order.

Aly Maher Pasha took over the reins of a country under martial law from the two-year-old Wafdist government of Mustapha Nahas Pasha, who was ousted Sunday night by King Farouk after unchecked mobs put the torch to parts of Cairo Saturday and killed at least 62 persons, including J. Macleod Boyer, Canadian trade commissioner.

Violence flared again in the Suez Canal zone today when Egyptian saboteurs blew up a train, wounding four British soldiers. One Egyptian was killed in the gunfight that followed.

The Wafdist-dominated parliament accepted Maher Pasha's non-party cabinet and voted to keep the country under martial law for the next two months.

Maher told the deputies he would lift the martial law within a week if circumstances were favorable.

"But if events develop against Egypt's interests," he added, "I might ask for a renewal of the period."

Just before the confidence vote, Maher told reporters he would form a united national front, open to all parties, aimed at "evacuation of the British from the Suez Canal Zone and unity of the Nile Valley."

Maher has no official following in the solid Wafd Party parliament, but the outgoing premier said Wafdist senators and deputies would support Maher as long as he pursued "my policy towards the British."

Cairo streets were quiet today after the disastrous week-end riots, though police still searched for ringleaders of a "plot to burn out the city" and overthrow the government.

Police said they caught 416 persons red-handed looting and pillaging during the riots, which injured hundreds and destroyed at least $30,000,000 worth of property.

Wyatt Proposal Spotlights Unrest

A gathering storm of unrest among certain city employees came to a head yesterday when City Manager Cecil Wyatt asked for a clear definition of his duties.

Appearing before the executive committee, Mr. Wyatt suggested that certain duties of the executive committee conflicted with his own under the city manager by-law.

"With respect, sir," he told Mayor Claude L. Harrison, chairman of the committee, "I ask that reconsideration be given certain functions of this committee as they pertain to salaries, civic service, and civic management."

FULL JURISDICTION

Under the municipal manager by-law, Mr. Wyatt has jurisdiction over the whole staff, with the power to negotiate, fire and hire, except in the case of department heads. In the latter case his recommendations must be approved by council.

Certain staff heads feel that the functions of the executive committee, as outlined in Mayor Harrison's inaugural address, interfere with the manager's duties under the by-law.

Reports indicate that the dissension extends to the staff, whose unions are watching developments with concern.

BLOW-UP PREDICTED

One official went so far as to suggest that a "blow-up" was imminent.

"Conditions are unstable," he said.

General feeling of the committee yesterday was that Mr. Wyatt was justified in asking for what they generally felt was his right under the by-law.

"If the managerial by-law is not adhered to so far as the associations are concerned, there will be discord," said Ald. William Pinfold. He added that there was dissension in certain departments or what he termed "a feeling of fear."

NOTHING TO FEAR

"They have nothing to fear if they do their work," answered Mayor Harrison. "I'm not dictating. So far as I'm concerned this council and committee is going to have the final say."

He said the aldermen had "lost control of a lot of things" and should be the "final adjudicators." He suggested that the city solicitor be asked to bring in a report explaining the division of jurisdiction of the manager and council.

Ald. Skillings said he felt a report was not necessary.

"The duties are outlined very clearly in the by-law," he said. "It is very explicit."

GOVERNING BODY

"We are still the governing body. We should be able to look into things properly," the mayor insisted.

Ald. Pinfold said that if the council was dissatisfied with the city manager, "we can fire him.

"But as long as the by-law exists, we must have a city manager and his duties are clear," he said.

Ald. Skillings said the idea of the city manager plan was to "get away from interfering with personnel below the department heads.

"We wanted to take politics out of the city hall staff," he added.

NOT IN FAVOR

Mayor Harrison, in his inaugural address, stated plainly he was not in favor of the city manager plan but that it should be given a fair trial.

Indications are that much of the discord at city hall has resulted from his direct reference to cutting staff and surveying various departments.

A recent survey of the public works department by the manager and Ald. Percy Scurrah has resulted in the resignation of assistant engineer J. G. Archer.

Police Action Threatened

Ticket Scheme Off; Refund Arranged

City police will be ordered to crack down on a local "save baseball" scheme being conducted by Robert Noel.

Mayor Claude L. Harrison said he would issue a directive to the chief of police to put a stop to the scheme. It is understood $1 tickets are being sold on a house to raise money.

"It's against the city by-laws," said the mayor after Ald. Waldo Skillings brought up the matter.

Officials of the "Save Baseball for Victoria Fund" have repeatedly claimed that Mr. Noel has no connection with their drive.

Later last night Mr. Noel told The Colonist that "owing to lack of co-operation the house campaign sale will close today and all money received will be refunded at Room 318, Pemberton Building."

Illness Delays Straith Arrival

Education Minister W. T. Straith has been delayed by illness on his way back from a Mexican vacation, it was reported yesterday.

Mr. Straith was expected to reach Victoria in time for an important cabinet meeting this morning.

Latest word is that he will probably arrive Thursday or Friday. He is resting in Los Angeles.

Exact nature of his illness is not known, but one report said he had suffered a recurrence of trench mouth, which he contracted during the First World War.

Mr. Straith's opinion is sought by the cabinet on such important topics as government plans for the February session of the legislature.

New Detention Barracks Planned for Victoria Area

By TREVOR COLLINS

A new military detention barracks to deal with offenders in armed services in this area is on the Department of National Defense drawing boards at Ottawa.

The barracks will be part of the over-all development program for the army, navy and air force in Victoria.

Lieut.-Col. Arthur Perron, officer commanding Work Point Barracks, confirmed the proposed construction of the detention quarters and said it was "in the planning stage."

Location of the building is not yet definite but it is understood the Second World War infantry training site at Mary Hill near William Head is a likely place.

This was not denied by Col. Perron, who noted that the old detention building still in operation at Work Point Barracks has been in use "since the Boer War."

It is located in the midst of an army housing project on garrison property and soldiers undergoing army "correction" on the parade square are in full view of young children and civilians in the district.

The service jail was built to house about 20 men and is far outdated. It is inadequate to cope with the ever-increasing number of servicemen now stationed here.

It is estimated that about 1,200 soldiers are training at Gordon Head Army Camp and Work Point Garrison. Added to this are approximately 4,000 sailors here.

Servicemen say the service jail is nearly always full to overflowing and that in some instances men have to be sent at public expense to the only other military jail in Western Army Command, which is at Currie Barracks, Calgary.

HOUSE 50 MEN

Col. Perron said that the new detention barracks will be built to house between 50 and 60 men and will be designed so more space can be added if needed. It will be a self-contained unit.

At the same time, he declared that the old term of army jail or "glasshouse"—as it was known to thousands of servicemen—is a thing of the past.

He said the men now receive regular army training while in detention and are "better soldiers for it."

Col. Perron would not say when the barracks would be constructed but it is understood it will be at least a year before work begins.

Brain Abscess Report Untrue

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP).—Coroner J. D. Whitbread said today 11-month-old Garry Bouzovetsky had neither measles nor a brain abscess when he died 11 hours after leaving hospital.

The coroner said the baby, who was discharged from St. Paul's Hospital because "he had developed measles," died of pneumonia.

"I can't say whether the child had pneumonia when he was discharged from hospital," Dr. Whitbread said after an autopsy.

"We found no indication of measles."

The coroner added that the baby did not have a brain abscess as the family was told by a hospital official after the child died.

Farouk Gambles Throne In Government Switch

LONDON, Jan. 28 (AP).—King Farouk, famed as a gambler, staked his throne when he set up a palace government under Premier Aly Maher Pasha to quiet troubled Egypt.

Diplomatic officials here expressed the view today that the dramatic week-end move also probably stalled a British march on Cairo.

British troops in the disputed Suez Canal Zone may well have been ordered and may, if necessary, still be ordered to march on the capital to protect thousands of British subjects who live and work in inland Egypt.

In firing ex-Premier Mustapha Nahas Pasha, the portly monarch stepped into the political arena when popular support seemed wholly behind Nahas and his Wafdists who dominate Egypt's parliament. Diplomats here consider he took a big personal risk because recently there has been some anti-palace feeling.

The change of Egyptian governments took place with the knowledge of the United States and Britain, it was reported here.

It probably had the support of Egyptian army leaders, too.

The foreign office clearly was pleased by it.

Officials here have made no secret of the belief they could get nowhere with Nahas Pasha.

Aly Maher Pasha, the new Egyptian premier, has no reputation here for being pro-British. Britain may expect him to be a hard bargainer if he decides to renew negotiations, but his appointment is seen as a follow-up of Farouk's action last December in naming two friends of Britain to his personal cabinet.

"Devil" Blamed in Slaying

WINNIPEG, Jan. 28 (CP).—A statement that a Winnipeg child allegedly was beaten and strangled to death "to drive the devil out of her" was read tonight at a coroner's inquest.

The jury, in returning its verdict, said tiny seven-year-old Martha Louise McCullough died from strangulation and severe skull fractures administered by her foster parents.

Gavin McCullough, 51, former office manager for the Winnipeg Chamber of Commerce and his 52-year-old wife, Lillian, jointly have been charged with murder. They were remanded to Tuesday.

Detective Inspector George Blow read a statement given to police by Mr. McCullough shortly after Martha's body was found lying among an assortment of religious pamphlets in the McCullough's residential Elmwood home last Friday.

In it Mr. McCullough said he and his wife had been praying in their living room the night before the slaying. When the little brown-haired, brown-eyed girl entered the room, she was asked to join them in prayer.

Mr. McCullough said the child smiled and didn't pay attention. His wife then slapped the child and struck her with a squat cleaning fluid bottle.

The bottle was found lying beside the girl in the second floor of the McCullough home when police entered after investigating reports that the couple had taken part in an all-night prayer session in a vacant lot.

Mr. McCullough told police that his wife handed him the bottle because "she wasn't strong enough."

He said he struck the child several times "as hard as I could."

The statement continued: "This didn't kill her. She was still breathing so I put my knee on her chest and strangled her.

"So now she's safe in the arms of the Lord."

Fire Destroys Frame Hall At Brilliant

NELSON, B.C., Jan. 28 (CP).—A fire started with gasoline-soaked sacks tonight destroyed an orthodox Doukhobor community hall at Brilliant, B.C.

Brilliant is 26 miles west of Nelson in British Columbia's southern Interior, where B.C.'s Doukhobor population is centred.

The fire in the frame, one-storey building was first spotted by railway men working in nearby yards. The gasoline-soaked sacks were found by persons at the scene of the blaze.

R.C.M.P. are investigating the fire, first suspected work of Sons of Freedom terrorists since late summer.

At that time power line poles were blasted at three separate points in the Interior and a district forester charged that five forest fires in the Nelson district were set "by one or more fanatics from the Sons of Freedom Doukhobor sect."

In contrast to the Sons of Freedom, the orthodox Doukhobors have been recognized as a law-abiding group since they came to Canada from Russia at the turn of the century.

The last major Doukhobor disorders in B.C. were in the early summer of 1950, when dozens of dwellings were burned in and near Krestova, a "Freedomite" settlement in the Kootenay area.

Run for House! Then for Hawaii

By H. T. MATSON

By time you're reading this, very few people in British Columbia will have neglected to run for the three vacant seats in the Provincial Legislature. Obviously it's the only decent contemporary thing to do. Can we then (the rest of us) well afford to scorn this epic chance to carve our own names in the Halls of Shame? In other words, are we, the residue, going to sit in inert oblivion and behoovenly end our days as a minority group? Do we slog on stupidly as serfs, drones, flotsam, jetsam; or do we run bravely for the vacant Provincial thrones, . . . or go to Honolulu?

The sporting thing, of course, is to run . . . and go to Honolulu too. Good. So everything's fixed; and now we're "in"; and we've landed safely in the Hawaiian Isles and already the brown wriggly little Hawaiian cuties are lassooing us with leis and cooing and swaying and rolling their artless semi-tropical eyes with delicious abandon . . . mm . . . obviously this is the place from which to govern any of Canada's great Provinces . . . and remember, we've left Hon. Byron Johnson and Hon. Herbert Anscomb alone in the "Buildings" at Victoria . . . cold and alone to glower at each other and haggle interminably over Hospital Insurance, Buttle Lake, liquor amendments, hydro projects, etc., etc., while we enjoy ourselves as all good Governments are supposed to do.

Now are your suites (note to mere rooms—we're the Government, remember) bright and plush enough? And the management has supplied the regulation hibiscus-blooms and iced pineapples, yes? And your selected lackeys are Grade A and unctuous and urbane? Splendid. Then we'll immediately get to work . . . which means anything but . . . we're the Government, don't forget, so work of any description is automatically and traditionally verboten. So we play, yes? But before Bentlying out to the Country Club let's investigate the whereabouts of Messrs. Harrison, Bate, Skillings, and Scurrah. Since they were first to apply for the Provincial vacancies it's just possible they stayed behind, figuring on squatters' rights, perhaps. Let's see. "Oh Claudd. Oh Waaal-do?" Huh; no answer. Never mind . . . honi soit qui mal y pense . . . and now let's ooze lambently into those eager quivering Bentlys. Ah, what comfort! And what a climate! And . . . ah, here's the Club Soakem. Posh, eh? And despite we're Government it's nevertheless useless in this joint to bleat nostalgically for "Logana."

British Columbia won't import American wines so don't expect to get any B.C. mandrake-juice down here. So it must be Mumm's or Heldzic or Courvoisier, or 'Aigue and worse 'Aigue tomorrow morning. But don't worry . . . you've all got inexhaustible expense accounts, don't forget; and now how about a swim before that blood-and-saffron sun dips hissing into that sighing lullabying sea.

Man, was that good! And was there ever such a surplus of live lithe femininity since the days when Cleopatra twisted her sandled toes frustratedly beside the only thing in Egypt that she failed to date . . . the Sphinx! Truly these quondam Sandwich Islands are not the sort of delicacies to be ordered at the average highway fleatrap. No sir. Tsk, tsk. Poor Mr. Johnson. Poor Mr. Anscomb. Up there in the slush. Alone. And with no population to tax; and the hospitals all empty; and nobody hanging around the Liquor Store; and no body to build new Taj Mahals quarterly for new Government Departments. Worst of all, no newspapers through which to stucco one another, day by day. And how can they negotiate queer timber deals and mineral deals and mammoth Hydro-electric projects with our American cousins with all of us down here amongst the coconuts and cuties; and therefore quite unable to offer our customary support . . . with cheering? Gentlemen, we've basked for quite a while. Should we now relent? Or better, first, let's send a telegram. . . thuswise . . . "To Provincial Government, British Columbia, providing anybody's there. Sirs, by return wire prepaid please advise if willing hold general election immediately Stop But don't stop. If you do then we'll stop here forever stop. Love to all stop signed "your pals."

That should put them on the stop—beg pardon, spot—and any minute now we'll be getting a riposte. Ah, here it is . . . mmmm. . . . "Dear pals—Thanks wire and hope you're having wonderful time stop Sorry unable call election stop Harold Winch inveigled us into vault yesterday to hunt for extra funds, locked same and now holds key stop Hurry back stop short stop long stop heavens, can't you see we're frantic query hurry anyway love signed Boss and Herbie."

(See what we mean . . . or do you . . . ?)

Crewman Killed In Lifeboat Drill

LOS ANGELES, Jan 28 (INS). —One crewman was killed and seven persons injured today during a lifeboat drill on the Pacific luxury liner Lurline.

The accident occurred while the Lurline was tied at the Wilmington docks at Los Angeles harbor. The ship sailed on schedule late today for Hawaii.

David McGregor, 68, a room steward from Long Beach, Calif., died of shock and multiple fractures. Archie Stone, another crew member, suffered multiple fractures and internal injuries when the lifeboat in which they were practicing escape drills fell 75 feet into the water.

Stone was taken to hospital, where his condition was reported as critical. Others in the boat escaped serious injury.

Sir Henry Raeburn, great Scottish painter who died in 1823, did the portraits of all the great Scotsmen of the day except Robert Burns.

Hearing Set On Proposals For Pipelines

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP). —The Federal Power Commission will open a hearing here April 8 on four proposals involving importation for the first time of natural gas from Canada to serve Pacific Northwest areas.

The four companies involved, none of which now operate natural gas pipeline facilities, are:

Northwest Natural Gas Co., New York City; Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp., Houston, Tex.; Westcoast Transmission Co., Inc., Wilmington, Del., and Glacier Gas Co., Butte, Montana.

Northwest proposes a 615-mile main pipeline system to cost $92,000,000 with daily maximum capacity of 285,000,000 cubic feet of natural gas. It would transport the fuel from fields in Alberta to serve Idaho, Washington and Oregon, with some gas being returned to Canada for use in British Columbia.

Pacific Northwest Pipeline's $174,186,602 project would link Texas gas reserve areas with gas fields in Alberta by means of a 2,175-mile pipeline system with initial capacity of 250,000,000 cubic feet daily. It would serve areas in Utah, Idaho, Washington and Oregon as well as Vancouver.

Westcoast Transmission would build a 615-mile system at a cost of $25,690,000 with a designed capacity of 221,000,000 cubic feet daily in the fifth year of operation. It would import gas from Alberta with an affiliated company handling the transportation to the U.S. border from the Alberta fields.

Glacier Gas wants a 626-mile system to transport gas imported from Alberta to parts of Montana, Idaho and Washington.

What is Nickel, anyway?

"Nickel is a metal, the same as copper and silver are metals. It is a very useful metal because it has a silvery-white color, does not rust or corrode easily, and is strong and tough."

"When we want to make other metals whiter or stronger or more resistant to rust or corrosion, we add nickel to them and then we can make things like white gold or stainless steel."

"The reason our new television set works so well is that nickel and electricity work so well together. Telephones and radios work better because nickel is used. Nickel is a good metal and Canada produces 90 per cent of it."

Britain, says a London dispatch, will tell the world today what new plans she has for the economic emergency, and the announcement is expected to be spectacular.

Anything less than the spectacular would come as an anti-climax to a country which has been groomed carefully for brutal sacrifices. The British people, case-hardened to crisis and adversity, has been warned that this time things are really serious.

The U.S. Supreme Court in Washington has refused to review three appeals involving Judith Coplon, and thus opened a possible path to freedom for the Brooklyn woman twice convicted of betraying U.S. secrets to a Russian agent.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur in New York has urged seven announced MacArthur supporters in New Hampshire to back an "available candidate" for the U.S. presidency who can meet "the exacting test of national leadership during these critical times."

Back to London yesterday came Prime Minister Winston Churchill, returning from the U.S. to a Britain worried by expected new living standard cuts and an explosive quarrel with Egypt.

A bill introduced in Washington by U.S. Senator Warren Magnuson (Dem.-Wash.) would enable American merchant seamen to be decorated for outstanding or heroic service.

The executive board of the Canadian Polish Council, Toronto, in a statement says that anti-Communist as well as Communist groups protested against a light sentence given in a Vancouver manslaughter case which arose out of the death of a Polish-born immigrant. (Appeal against the three-hour jail term meted out to Joseph Dillane in this case resulted in its being raised to 18 months).

Time lost in Canada through strikes and lockouts in 1951 was the lowest for any year since 1944, says the labor department in Ottawa.

U.K., U.S. War Plotters, Russia's Malik Charges

PARIS, Jan. 28 (CP).—Britain, the United States and France served firm notice on the Soviet Union today that any Communist aggression against Southeast Asia would be put before the U.N. for urgent action.

Russia's delegate Jakob Malik replied promptly that this warning was the result of a "new war plot that was hatched" by President Harry Truman and Prime Minister Winston Churchill at their recent Washington talks.

These declarations came during debate in the political committee of the U.N. Assembly on a complaint by Nationalist China's T. F. Tsiang that Russia violated the 1945 treaty of friendship with Chiang Kai-shek. The committee will vote Tuesday on Tsiang's request for the U.N. to return a "moral judgment" against Russia.

Burmese delegate U Mynt said Chinese Nationalists in Burma are getting external aid from a source which is "playing with fire" and running the risk of a third world war.

John Sherman Cooper, U.S. delegate, strongly backed Tsiang's appeal for a judgment against Russia. Then he referred to a speech Jan. 3 here by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky.

Vishinsky had charged that the U.S. was ferrying Nationalist Chinese troops to Burma, Thailand and other Southeast Asian countries and that "these illegal . . . flagrantly illegal acts of the United States, we can be quite sure, will be declared to be defensive measures against China's aggression whenever events begin to take their course on the southern borders of China."

Cooper said: "Do the false charges made by the Soviet representative on Jan. 3, presage Communist aggression in Indo-China, or Thailand or Burma?"

Writer Blacks Face, Tours Secret Base

LONDON, Jan. 28 (Reuters).—A reporter told Sunday how he disguised himself as a chimney sweep and made a 17-hour tour of top-secret departments at an R.A.F. technical base.

Stanley Buchanan, reporter for the Sunday paper The People, said he blackened his face, carried a long brush and a shovel and walked into the camp at Debden, Essex, without question.

His story today says he did it "to prove how easy it is."

"I read all sorts of orders and notices," Buchanan writes. "I poked my nose into radar units officially barred to all but authorized personnel.

"Nobody challenged me. Nobody checked my credentials. Nobody questioned for a moment my right to be there."

Mainland Young Liberals Approve Coalition Break

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP).—Breakup of Coalition by Premier Byron Johnson has won approval from the Greater Vancouver Young Liberal Council.

The Young Liberals hailed the return "to straight Liberal administration" brought about by the resignation of Herbert Anscomb and other Progressive Conservative cabinet ministers.

Last month B.C. Young Liberals asked for a Liberal convention before June 30 to break away from the Progressive Conservatives, and some had urged a breakup before the Legislative session next month.

Approval of Mr. Johnson's action in asking for Mr. Anscomb's resignation came during the week end at a meeting of the council, which represents Liberals from all Vancouver ridings.

Youths Vent Feelings

Students Lead Fight in Egypt

CAIRO, Jan. 28 (Reuters).—The leading part played by students in the canal zone fighting and the anti-British demonstrations in Cairo has spotlighted the important influence of undergraduates in this strife-torn land.

Since Oct. 17, when the Lancashire Fusiliers were ordered to open fire on rioters and looters in Ismailia, students have been mainly responsible for carrying the fight to the British forces in the canal zone. With a variety of foreign arms and home-made bombs, they are still the main source of ambushes and attacks upon the British forces.

The influence of students on political life in Egypt has persisted for several decades. It is something that the western mind may have difficulty in appreciating.

What undergraduates at Canadian universities think about current affairs is noted with only passing interest by the general public. What the students of Egypt think, feel and do has in the past brought about the downfall of governments and the creation of new ones.

They can be relied on to concern themselves with any controversial issue of the day, whether it be of domestic or foreign concern. The dispute with the British today is a ready-made cause for demonstrations.

These demonstrations develop in a now familiar pattern. The students, and even secondary schoolboys, absent themselves from classes and, gathering in crowds, shout slogans appropriate to the occasion, previously prepared by leaders. Physical violence may follow.

The attitude of the government is that the youth of the country must be allowed to express its feelings. But if the situation seems to be getting out of hand, the government acts firmly. Demonstrations are banned and universities and schools are closed.

Only recently universities in Cairo and Alexandria re-opened after anti-British and anti-palace demonstrations.

Following the re-opening of Farouk I University at Alexandria, the university senate issued an appeal to students to avoid fresh attempts to incite disorders.

Plan Envisages Compromise N.A.T.O. Army

PARIS, Jan. 28 (INS).—Virtual agreement was reached today on a compromise plan for the formation of the European army to be submitted to the North Atlantic Council scheduled to meet in Lisbon Feb. 16.

According to sources in Paris the plan for a European defense force with German participation is along the lines of a military coalition without any supernational political structure over the European army.

Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg are standing pat on their refusal to relinquish any sovereign rights at this time in order to create a federal political head for the army.

Such an authority would have recommended defense budgets and disposed of the national forces of each nation until political unity had been achieved.

The present play does not rule out eventual federation. It calls for a year-by-year relinquishing of the sovereign rights of each member country over its armed forces until federation has been achieved.

U.S. Agrees to Help Prepare Applications to Build Seaway

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP).—Canada and the United States will soon open a series of meetings designed to pave the way for construction of an all-Canadian St. Lawrence seaway.

It was disclosed officially today that the U.S. has acceded to a Canadian request that a start be made on preparing applications to the international joint commission for approval of plans for construction of power facilities on the St. Lawrence.

Meetings are expected to open early in February.

This development was disclosed today with the publication of an exchange of diplomatic notes dated Jan. 11.

The applications, once approved by the six-man commission, will permit the Province of Ontario to co-operate with an appropriate U.S. authority, presumably New York State, to develop the power potential in the international section of the river.

They also will open the way for the federal government to launch construction of an all-Canadian seaway should the U.S. Congress continue to cold-shoulder plans for U.S. participation.

The international joint commission was set up in 1909 to decide on boundary problems of mutual concern to the two governments. Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton is the Canadian chairman and Hon. A. O. Stanley heads the U.S. section.

The diplomatic notes were exchanged by State Secretary Dean Acheson and Hume Wrong, Canadian ambassador in Washington.

In order to proceed as rapidly as possible with the project, Canada was requesting the co-operation of the U.S. government.

Truman Asks Senate To Approve U.S. Part

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (AP).—President Truman told Congress today it should authorize construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project as a matter of "immediate urgency."

The President, in a special message on the issue he has supported since 1935, said it is "inconceivable" that local or special interests should influence Congress to block the building of the waterway, estimated to cost $818,000,000.

Congress refused to act on the project last year, and even as the reading of Mr. Truman's message was completed in the Senate, chairman Tom Connolly of the foreign relations committee arose to reiterate his oft-expressed opposition to the proposal.

Seaway legislation is before Connally's committee.

The project would make possible deep-draught navigation of the river between the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Great Lakes. Cost would be repaid through tolls on shipping.

Reminding Congress that Canada has completed legislative action necessary to build the seaway alone if this country does not go along, Mr. Truman said:

"The question before the Congress now is whether the United States shall participate in its construction, and thus maintain joint operation and control over this development which is so important to our security and our economic progress."

Long Illness Kills Iceland President

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Jan. 28 (AP).—Iceland's president, Svienn Bjoernsson, 71, died Friday of a heart ailment. He had been president since 1944, when the Republic of Iceland was proclaimed. He was formally elected in 1945 and again in 1949, for four-year terms, and was unopposed in both elections.

He had been ill for 18 months and died in the National Hospital.

Oddities

LONDON, Jan. 28 (Reuters).—David Seccombe, 21-year-old son of a wealthy British family, admitted Saturday he has posed for two years as an eccentric Russian pianist named Vladimir Levinsky.

His admission followed a "concert" at a London concert hall in which the audience booed and finally walked out.

During the concert, Seccombe turned over two pages of music by error and missed out a large part of a waltz he was playing. He forgot two movements of Beethoven's "Moonlight Sonata."

"I couldn't have bought this publicity for thousands," he remarked. "An act is the only way to fame in these barbaric days."

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 28 (AP)—Some 10-year-old Minneapolis boys have formed a neighborhood group they hope will become a Cub pack—as soon as they can find a leader. Meanwhile, they've been meeting by themselves.

A mother was asking her son what they do at the meetings.

"We play games," replied the 10-year-old.

"What kind of games?" the mother asked.

Replied the son: "A game with cards called penny ante."

Dillane Reports To Serve Term

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP).—John Joseph Dillane, 51, started an 18-month sentence for manslaughter today after spending a quiet week end at home with his family.

Dillane surrendered himself to R.C.M.P. today after the court order for his arrest arrived from Victoria.

The British Columbia Court of Appeal Friday increased a three-hour sentence for the manslaughter of Stanley Deren, 53, in Vancouver July 15, to 18 months.

Dillane gave himself up two days after Deren's death.

The Overcharge Is Mounting

FINANCE MINISTER ABBOTT'S budget surplus is mounting. In April when he brought the budget down he estimated it might be $30,000,000. In the autumn, when it passed $309,000,000, Mr. Abbott said it might be $250,000,000 by the end of the fiscal year. Now, with three months yet to go the surplus is $721,600,000, while Mr. Abbott is in Germany issuing invitations to a tea party. Nobody objects to a surplus where it arises without increased taxation as the result of good times. In very different case, however, is a surplus that extracted $508,200,000 more from increased corporation and personal income taxes than was needed for the purposes of the Crown.

Whatever the position at March 31 next, at the moment the overcharge on the Canadian taxpayers is nearly three-quarters of a billion dollars. Defense outlays doubled in the same period. A British debt was paid to Canada, but involved only $44,000,000 with principal and interest. The real weight of the surplus, unfortunately for Mr. Abbott, is traceable directly to the increased taxes on corporation and personal incomes; proving that they were not needed, and that Mr. Abbott was strangely in error when he said that they were. Parliament ratified a huge sum in estimated expenditures of $2,082,700,000 for this fiscal year, each item of which was an appropriation with the effect of a separate act of parliament. The surplus, whatever it winds up at, was also budgeted, but no appropriation can be shown to cover this enormous sum. In short, it is an overcharge.

For the man who said, variously, that the purpose of increased taxation was "to drain off the surplus purchasing power" of the taxpayers on the one hand, and to provide for the contingent retirement of public debt on the other, the day of reckoning and explanation would seem to be near at hand. Who gave the Minister of Finance any authority to overcharge the taxpayers to the tune of hundreds of millions? Has the surplus been used in fact to retire public debt, and if so where is the evidence of that? Before the end of the fiscal year Mr. Abbott may find his surplus as difficult to shake off as Sinbad found the Old Man of the Sea.

Immigration Surprises

SOME interesting deductions are to be drawn from the immigration figures covering the first 11 months of 1951. A total of 174,715 new settlers were admitted to Canada compared with 66,851 for the corresponding period of 1950. They came from a score of countries, but mostly from Northern Europe. Of the grand total only about one-sixth were admitted from the United Kingdom.

One surprising feature is the large number of immigrants from Iron Curtain countries, including Russia, no fewer than 23,793. This suggests either that the escape route from tyranny is being well patronized or that the curtain is not so opaque as we are led to believe. It would be interesting to know which is which.

At least as intriguing is another aspect of the immigration flow. From the two chief European enemy countries of the last war, Germany and Italy, came nearly 50,000 prospective citizens, quite a sizable quota. By contrast another former enemy, Japan, sent us only three immigrants. Also by contrast the German-Italian influx was nearly double that of natives of Great Britain.

The percentage increases over the previous year, five times up for Germany and more than three times up for Northern Europe as a whole, would seem to indicate that considerable missionary work is being done by immigration authorities in Continental Europe. In a sense it looks as though the dice has been loaded in their behalf.

Presumably the immigrants have been well screened and their capacity for absorption into Canadian ways duly assessed. No doubt among them are many who will prove desirable in every respect. Nevertheless the difficulties that face individuals of other tongues and traditions in a new land are sometimes formidable, and so large a quota of this nature makes last year's immigration picture lopsided. A greater proportion of immigrants from the United Kingdom, where language and living concepts are similar to ours, would react to the distinct advantage of the Dominion.

Opportunity for Leadership

NATIONAL HEALTH and Welfare Minister Martin, addressing the annual convention of the Dairy Farmers of Canada in Montreal a few days ago, made instructive reference to the problem of finding useful employment for the Dominion's older citizens. The prevalent attitude towards employment of older workers must be changed, Mr. Martin said, "if we are to prevent one of the greatest wastes in our use of manpower." The increasing magnitude of the problem was well illustrated by Mr. Martin when he said that since 1900 the average age of Canada's population has been increased by 20 years. The proportion of older persons to those in the other age groups continues to rise steadily.

The Dominion government, however, is appealing through one of its ministers to private employers to do something which governments at all levels are unwilling to do themselves. Federal, provincial and municipal regulations enforcing the retirement of employees at the age of 65, regardless of special skills or capacity for continued useful employment, set an example which does not encourage industry and business to hire or retain older people. Nor does the arbitrary withholding of employment in all branches of civil service from those who have passed the age of 40.

While governments continue to follow a policy so wasteful of experienced manpower there is an element of hypocrisy in appeals to private employers to extend the age limits. Here is an opportunity for leadership by the Dominion Government. If the age of compulsory retirement from the federal service could be raised to 70, perhaps at the option of the employees concerned, there is little doubt that the rule would be relaxed by junior governments as well, and many thousands of good workers would be able to remain in employment for another five years, instead of wasting experience valuable to the country in retirement.

BUTTLE LAKE

Sir,—"The Strathcona Park Act must not be changed without the consent of the people of the province," wrote Mr. P. C. Shaw. But it will be changed without the consent of the people of the province unless the people insist upon a plebiscite. All persons interested in the rights of the people should vote against the damming of Buttle Lake.

"Before them was a Garden of Eden" . . . after them desolation.

Is all that magnificent timber surrounding Buttle Lake to be taken from the people, or purchased at 50 cents an acre? That is the price stated to have been paid by the Aluminum Company of Canada for "a huge slice of Tweedsmuir Park . . . last year."

In 20 years or so, will the plant be sold to any commercial enterprise willing to pay the price fixed by the Power Commission, "including the full amount of the commission's investment?" And having all it demands, will the commission pass on to obtain and destroy another beauty spot? Lower Campbell River has already been ruined by damming.

I am informed that the government has never made a road to Buttle Lake, though appealed to more than once. Two world wars and a severe depression in between followed the gift of Strathcona Park to the people of Vancouver Island. But there has been time since to build a road enabling Victorians and others to enjoy the recuperative beauty of Buttle Lake and its surroundings.

Setting aside all other arguments, it would seem clear that Strathcona Park and Buttle Lake belong to the people of Vancouver Island and their descendants; that the people, and they alone, have the right to retain or dispose of it as seems best to them.

Therefore, the one and proper way to settle the present dispute is to have a plebiscite. . . .

THE ARTS CENTRE

Sir,—Will you allow an obscure artist of landscapes now concluding his first, but he hopes not his last, visit to British Columbia from his native Ontario, to express his deep admiration of your province and your capital city. I have, of course, seen many pictures of both province and capital, but none the less it was something of a revelation to me to see in actuality the wealth of beauty with which you are endowed from an artistic point of view.

I have made mental notes of so many scenes which I should like to paint that I fear my impressions have become somewhat overstocked and blurred. If circumstances permit, I intend to return when the weather is more suitable for working out of doors, and try to transfer to canvas some images of all this loveliness.

I was much interested to learn that you have recently opened an Arts Centre in Victoria, to which I paid a hasty visit. May I say that it seems to me that you have made a good beginning with the creation of a centre for the collection and exhibition of pictures. You have been fortunate in the building generously donated by its owner for this purpose, and also in the curator whom you have appointed. The large, lofty and well-lighted rooms allow the pictures to be exhibited and seen to the best possible advantage.

May I express the hope that the authorities will not allow any of the land surrounding the building to be sold and built on. The first essential of any gallery is good lighting, and the best possible light is the natural light of day admitted through windows free of all shadows cast by adjoining buildings. There is at least one building in Ontario where the otherwise first-rate collection of pictures has been largely spoiled by the failure to keep the adjoining land free of buildings. However, Victoria, which has all the look of a swiftly growing, wealthy and cultured community, will surely not fail to provide the funds needed to secure for its Arts Centre the unimpeded flow of light to display its pictures as they ought to be.

Victoria, B.C. NELSON B. SIMPSON.

ASKING FOR IT

Thinking Aloud

". . . of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—of cabbages and kings."

By TOM TAYLOR

IT was the reference of a journalist to the "dark brown" voice of his friend that first made this column aware that voices might be catalogued by color. To be sure, some voice have a colorful quality while others have a monotony about them that would give you the blues. But that has to do with their effect, not their inherent hue.

By this token, then, a bass voice is a brunette and a tenor is a blonde. Or are these shades rather than colors? Feminine fashions have so sub-divided the color processes it's not easy for a male to name a color, as some of them have found out on Royal visits.

A dark brown voice, I imagine, has a sort of homely sound, without the excitement of exotic green or the suspicious tinge of pink—a nice shade, incidentally, that deserves a better fate than to be the symbol of a fellow-traveler.

Where do you suppose the sergeant-major's voice would come in? He's the fellow who trembles like drawn elastic, and if the troops were asked to label his harsh tones they'd likely say black, as deep as it could be pigmented.

Probably this reaction wouldn't be fair, all things considered, but it would be khaki.

Actually there aren't enough colors to go the rounds. The human voice is a vehicle of infinite variety, and not even the wit of dress designers can match nature's own superb versatility. Voices are like faces in this respect, the diversity is amazing.

If you have been gifted with a pleasing voice the gods have been kind to you. Most of us don't make the best use of what we have, of course. Singers will tell you that a voice can be suppled and its tone enriched by careful exercise. But not many of us try to improve on nature, as actors do, for instance.

Perhaps this is just as well, however. At least your voice is your own and there may be something in the theory you should retain its native timbre and not put a disguise on it. And there is always the consolation that you don't hear yourself as others hear you.

Some voices seem suited happily to their use. One radio announcer I hear occasionally has a sombre resonance that goes well with the serious themes he deals with. Another has mellow tones that might be amber, so nicely do they fit his nocturnes. Some radio voices are as cheery as red, while others are as insipid as pale lemon shade.

It's all a matter of taste. A tone that may be bilious green to you may be peach-like to someone else.

None of us speaks in the same tone all the time, of course. In good company you may run up and down the color chart, unknowingly, as you let your voice fall into the shades that changing thought demands. This is when your voice is creating its own pigments, without benefit of artificial aids. It is when you go outside, maybe to create an impression, that you switch colors from a normal orange, say, to an effected heliotrope.

Now if it were textures the human voice were allied to there would be more scope for discussion. You could refer to the rasping nature of some ill-tempered folk, or to the soothing influence of a soft beguiling tone. The list would be endless.

But it is unlikely that most of us could name the right color for our own voices. Until you hear yourself on a wax record you might deem your hues to be bright emerald, while all the time they belong in a dull maroon category.

By and large I suppose most of us have voices of the drab persuasion, something like khaki. There is safety in numbers, it's true, but alas no distinction.

Gerald Waring Reports From Ottawa

THE story of how Prime Minister Churchill tried to get Canadian support to strengthen his hand at Washington has emerged from the secrecy which surrounded his visit here.

Informed sources say that Churchill endeavored to manœuvre the Canadian cabinet behind him in his opposition to the appointment of an American admiral to command N.A.T.O. naval forces in the North Atlantic. He failed.

Churchill was at loggerheads with President Truman on the issue. Last year the Americans nominated Admiral William M. Fechteler for the post, but when Churchill—then opposition leader—got wind of the move he protested so strongly in the British Commons that the plan was temporarily shelved.

His view was that, despite the fact that N.A.T.O.'s North Atlantic naval forces would be approximately 60 per cent American, 30 per cent British and 10 per cent Canadian, the preponderance of United States naval strength didn't warrant an overall United States commander. Instead, he proposed that the command go to a British admiral.

Supporting Churchill's stand were these arguments:

(1) Americans head N.A.T.O.'s western European and Mediterranean commands;

(2) British naval tradition and the Royal Navy's dominant role in the North Atlantic in the past make the appointment of a British admiral logical, as do also

(3) The success of Royal Navy methods in anti-submarine warfare during the Second World War, indicating British superiority in this type of sea operation, and,

(4) The traditional role of the Home Fleet as the protector of Albion's shores.

But when it became apparent that a British admiral would be unacceptable to the Americans, Churchill proposed that the North Atlantic be divided into operational sectors, with each of the three countries being responsible for definite areas, although working closely together.

When Churchill arrived in Ottawa, fresh from discussions in Washington which showed the Americans still determined on overall American command, he sounded out individual Canadian ministers.

"You do agree with us, don't you, that a division of the North Atlantic would be better than an overall American commander?" he asked in effect.

Several ministers, reportedly including Production Minister Howe and Defense Minister Claxton, readily assented, but without any show of enthusiasm. As one minister was said to have explained later, "I was just trying to be agreeable".

But the ministers were embarrassed, and had to do some rapid explaining when Churchill met the full cabinet in the Privy Council chamber on January 14. The beaming British P.M. said he was pleased to find Canadian cabinet ministers so fully in accord with him on the North Atlantic command question. He would like, he said, to bring the supporting Canadian views to the attention of President Truman when he resumed his talks in Washington.

The Canadians then had to point out to Churchill that much as they sympathized with his point of view, they declined to take sides in an Anglo-American disagreement. Furthermore, they sent a dispatch to our embassy in Washington explaining the situation and making it clear that Canada would remain neutral in the dispute.

Thus Churchill returned to Washington without the Canadian support which might have made his views prevail. Then, on his last day in the United States capital, he finally assented to the American proposal.

However, Admiral Fechteler is unlikely to get the job now, because after the plan bogged down last year, Truman appointed him chief of naval operations. He'll probably stay in that bigger job, and another United States admiral will get the N.A.T.O. command.

No Milk Subsidies

(From The Edmonton Journal)

PREMIER Manning is to be commended for his firm refusal even to consider milk subsidies by the province, either to producers or consumers. As he said, this would be merely a precedent.

It would not be long before the provincial government would be inundated with demands for subsidies on all manner of foods. Nor is there any reason to believe that they would end there—clothing, fuel and shelter link up naturally with food.

The premier was commenting on a proposal by dairy farmers of the Medicine Hat district that, instead of subsidizing the producers, the consumers should be the beneficiaries. And in an attempt to sugar-coat the idea, they suggested each child receiving the family allowance should be given a milk subsidy. It would work out, they said, at an average of $2.50 per child per month.

Today, more than 300,000 Alberta children are receiving the federal family allowance. Each month sees their number increase by from 1,100 to 1,500. Even at the 300,000 figure, the amount the thoughtful dairymen would have the provincial treasury pay out would be $750,000. This would run to more than $9,000,000 a year—considerably more before the end of this year.

The absurdity of the proposal is exposed when it is realized that this would be one-tenth of the entire provincial budget. And it would be a runaway affair. Every producer would soon find good excuses for subsidizing his own customers, and then the distributors and retailers would be crying "me, too".

The waiter brought back the note with this answer: "Me."

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

WITH such distinguished men as Winston Churchill and Viscount Alexander setting the fashion, amateur painting has already a large vogue in Canada; and it appears to be growing. With Grandma Moses collecting hundreds of dollars per item for her hundred pictures nineties, many an amateur may be pardoned for entertaining a few delusions of grandeur. But among professional artists in Canada there is being roused a fairly lively concern over the perils of what they call this "amateurism".

The money loss to the professional painter is considerable. It has for generations been the habit of the well-to-do to buy the work of the namely artists of their time to adorn their homes. But when big executives start painting for a hobby, there is hardly room in a mansion, let alone in a modern big executive bungalow or apartment, for all the masterpieces that flow from their brushes. They give them to their friends and subordinates as gifts. Little by little, the potential wall space of the country is being consumed by amateurs. Professional artists are said to be feeling the pinch.

But more than that, "amateurism" is lowering the artistic standards, according to the professionals. Nobody likes to tell an amateur that his work stinks. Thus, over the mantels of an ever-increasing number of homes are appearing these "cocktail conversation pieces", as the professional artists call them, and the standards so jealously preserved by the profession of the arts appear no longer to be of interest or concern.

It may be the professional artists are themselves to blame and are reaping a natural harvest. The cult of what is called "modern" art, however based upon profound artistic impulses, has appeared to the layman as a complete breakaway from the old standards; and many a man, on viewing modern paintings, has remarked: "Why, heck, I could do that!"

So he tries.

'Super-Brain

By THOMAS R. HENRY

Science Editor, North American Newspaper Alliance

THE ultimate in electric "brains" has been built for the United States army's ballistics research laboratory at Aberdeen, Maryland.

In a thousandth of a second it can multiply a pair of numbers each containing 12 figures. It can do 10,000 additions a second. It can "remember" 1,024 numbers, and recall any of them in 36 millionths of a second. This is twice the memory of any other electronic computer.

In five hours it can do calculations that would require 50 years for a man with an ordinary adding machine. In two weeks it can solve a problem which would take a human brain more than 1,000 years.

Building of this "brain" has just been completed at the University of Illinois, under a contract with the ordnance corps of the army. A team of scientific experts from Aberdeen is at the university with a great number of problems and the machine is working eight hours a day. It will be transferred to Maryland in a few weeks, after any "bugs" which may show up have been removed.

The nearest approach up to now has been that of two machines built at the bureau of standards. These, however, have only half the "memory" of the Illinois model. Another of the improved type has been built for the university itself, and another is being constructed at Princeton University, where some of the fundamental work was carried out by Dr. John von Neumann of the Institute of Advanced Studies and his co-workers.

The slowest part of the device is the teletypewriter on which it types its answers. For example, it can extract the cube roots of all numbers from one through 2,000 in two seconds, but more than an hour is required to put these on paper. Prof. Ralph E. Meagher and his associates at Illinois are planning a typewriter which will run five times as fast, but it still will be far behind the speed of the electronic brain.

This superbrain contains 2,720 vacuum tubes. Forty of these constitute its "memory". The memory tubes are similar to television picture tubes, but are only three inches in diameter. The "memory" appears as glowing green dots on the face of the tube, the 1,024 digits arranged in a square 32 dots wide and 32 dots high.

This "memory" not only stores away numbers, but also directions as to what to do. When the machine operates, the dots brighten or dim, and the little neon tubes light, flicker or darken as calculations go on. It has a human-like capacity to follow a complicated series of instructions, carrying out one mathematical operation after another, remembering results, and deciding, sometimes, from the answers to calculations just made, what to do next.

Dear Deer—Now It's Half-Buck Buckburgers!

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP)—Deerburgers next?

Two University of British Columbia scientists reported today they have discovered a diet that could put deer on the level of sheep as meat producers.

Zoologist Dr. Ian McTaggart Cowan and animal nutritionist Dr. Alex Wood have found that the wild quadrupeds can be pastured in relatively useless alder and willow bottom lands.

The diet is called U.B.C. '14. It consists of normal agricultural materials such as alfalfa hay and a mash of alfalfa meal, corn bran and corn gluten.

In five months of study, the animals at U.B.C. have grown from normal seven to eight pounds at birth to 80 pounds, 30 or 40 pounds more than in the wild state.

The experimenters are using waifs from several British Columbia forest fires. The tests will continue for five years under the sponsorship of the National Research Council of Canada.

Meat producers here have expressed interest in the study. One packer said he thought "it is a good idea to find new sources of meat."

He thought venison could be produced cheaper than other meats and could possibly replace the conventional beef, lamb and pork on Canadian dinner tables.

John Helders, catering manager of Vancouver's largest hotel, said he is ready to place an order for the meat right now. He said the hotel could use from 50 to 60 carcasses a year.

One drive-in manager envisioned deerburgers—or better still, buckburgers, at half a buck each.

Game Commissioner Frank Butler said the British Columbia Game Act allows commercial production of game for sale but added that he thought deer would need "considerable range" to remain healthy.

There are several snags to be overcome, but the possibility remains that the Canadian housewife may be buying venison roasts from her butcher by about 1957.

Servicemen's Wives To Get Separate Pay

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP)—The defense department has decided to cut the pay of married servicemen into two parts and two cheques. Some husbands aren't too happy about it. The wife will get one cheque and the husband will get the other.

This new policy which starts March 1 for officers, April 1 for warrant officers and N.C.O.'s and May 1 for other ranks, has touched off a fair amount of grumbling among husbands.

Pay officials say it is necessary to safeguard wives and families because in some cases the husbands don't look after them properly.

The assignments break down into four categories: (a) A man with children, living in married quarters provided by the forces; (b) with no children in married quarters, (c) lives elsewhere and has children, (d) lives elsewhere and has no children.

An army captain (a) would find $80 going to his wife, under (b) $75, under (c) $174 and under (d) $159. The rates for a sergeant under those four headings would be $70, $55, $132 and $117.

The army captain who doesn't live in married quarters and whose wife will get $174 a month will gross $215 for himself.

Committee May Be Discussed

Victoria's views on formation of an inter-municipal committee may be known next Friday, Reeve A. C. Wurtele of Esquimalt said yesterday.

Reeve Wurtele said that he is scheduled to meet with Mayor Claude L. Harrison at that time and may discuss the inter-municipal committee with him.

Saanich Reeve Joseph Casey and Oak Bay Reeve P. A. Gibbs have given their approval to serving on the committee. Reeve Gibbs, however, has stated he would like more information on garbage disposal by incineration. He said he believed a stop should be made to dumping garbage in the sea because of pollution of beaches.

In a changing and uncertain world . . .
nearly five million Canadians face the future with greater confidence because Life Insurance serves them these four ways!

1. Each year, life insurance provides many thousands of Canadians with money to meet some of their most important needs.
Last year, life insurance companies paid out $240 million in benefits to Canadians.
Out of this vast sum widows and other beneficiaries received $90 million in death benefits. For many of these people, life insurance payments made all the difference between being supported by relatives or charity — and being financially independent. Through life insurance they can still live in their own homes, keep their children at school and pay their bills!
But a much larger portion — $150 million — was paid to living policyholders. It provided income for people in their later years, enabling them to live comfortably and keep their self-respect . . . sent sons and daughters to college . . . paid for long dreamed-of trips and helped people reach many other goals.
2. Today, more than ever, Canadians rely on life insurance as the easiest, surest way to provide financial security for themselves and their families.
A record total of almost $2 billion in new life insurance was purchased by Canadians in 1951. This brings the value of life insurance owned by the nation's policyholders to another new record sum of $17 billion.
Their confidence in this form of security is well founded. For, through a whole century of wars, depressions and epidemics, life insurance companies have kept faith with all of their policyholders.
3. Canadian communities from coast to coast continue to progress — thanks in part to the investment of life insurance dollars.
Last year, more than $225 million were invested by life insurance companies, on behalf of their policyholders, in mortgages, bonds and other sound securities.
In this way, life insurance dollars helped to build more new schools, homes, highways, power plants, waterworks, oil pipelines, industrial plants and other aids to better living for all Canadians.
4. Life insurance dollars help to check inflation!

Funds Depressed

LONDON, Jan. 28 (Reuters)—The market in British government funds was depressed by some selling of the long-dated stocks and showed falls of ⅛.

C.P.R. MAKES LESS

MONTREAL, Jan. 28 (CP)—The Canadian Pacific Railway today reported net earnings of $3,073,058 for December, 1951, compared with $4,858,790 for the corresponding month in 1950.

Gross earnings were $35,593,827 and working expenses amounted to $32,520,769. This compares with $33,821,669 and $28,962,879 respectively in 1950.

Base Metals Top Record At Toronto

TORONTO, Jan. 28 (CP)—The base metal index closed today at the highest level in its 15-year history. Western oils also touched a new high during the day but eased as the session progressed.

Lake Dufault [illegible] lative attention as it jumped 25 cents in a turnover of more than 175,000 shares. Activity followed reports of new copper ore operations.

Base metal leaders were strong: Consolidated Smelters, Falconbridge, Golden Manitou, International Nickel, Steep Rock and United Keno Hill pushed upward.

Western oils were mixed. Asher, Calvan, Central Explorers, New British and Selburn strengthened while Calgary and Edmonton, and Security Free weakened.

Upturn at Montreal

MONTREAL, Jan. 28 (CP)—There was a general upturn today. Senior metals were strong from the opening. Miscellaneous industrials came into prominence at the close. Papers, senior oils and banks edged higher. Utilities, steels and carriers held gains and losses in balance. Beverages fell off slightly.

Aluminium jumped 1¾ points to 117, while Noranda gained 1½ at 82½. Shawinigan was up 1¼ at a new high of 44½.

Mines broke away from last week's narrow range, moving irregularly firmer from the opening. Western oils rebounded from early afternoon softness. Calvan Consolidated, Gaspe and Long Island were firmer.

Select Oils Active

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28.—Select Oils was most active stock of the day, advancing 6 cents to .74. Oils, however, were mixed with Britalta, New British, Calvan, Continental and Gas Exploration stronger. Lower were C. and E. Home, and Calmont.

Mines generally were depressed with Estella, Kootenay Belle, Reeves MacDonald Silvan and Van Roi lower. Stronger were Beaverlodge, McGillivray Creek, Silver Standard and Kootenay Base Metals.

Alberta Distillers dropped 10 cents at 2.95, but Canadian Western Lumber added a fraction at 10⅝.

Coals in Demand

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (CP)—Coal stocks and railroad issues gave the stock market a new lease of life in late trading today and prices all along the line advanced fractions to around a point.

The market got away to a brisk start, hit a bit of a slump midway through the session and perked up again in late trading.

The net result was a 30-cent increase in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks at $102, only a dime away from its 21-year high.

Gains Reported By Paper Firm

By HARRY YOUNG,
Colonist Business Editor

Ability of a number of Canadian companies to overcome higher taxation and other difficulties of 1951 is being shown as the annual reports are available.

An outstanding example of the sound condition of the pulp and paper industry is provided [illegible] Hampshire producers of sulphate and sulphite pulp and kraft paper specialties.

This company had a profit of $7,430,040 in the year ending Nov. 30, 1951, compared with $4,021,940 in 1950. This gave an earning per share of $3.17, against $1.58.

Some other revealing figures are that the company raised its sales by nearly $20,000,000 at $72,729,617. Its profits before taxes were $17,015,040, against $6,996,940, while its income tax contribution jumped to $9,585,000, an increase of more than 300 per cent over the previous year's $2,975,000.

If Brown's figures are typical of the industry then the high prices of leading Canadian paper and pulp stocks may not be excessive.

OLD MINE TO REOPEN

Another old-time B.C. mine may be brought back into production. A newly-formed company, Monterey Mining Co. Ltd., with head offices in Victoria, has bought the Monterey group of mines in the Lardeau district.

The claims enclose at least three veins, the Silver Dollar, the Gillan and the Iron Dollar. Of these the Silver Dollar was operated for some time before 1907, when it was abandoned, chiefly because of the high ratio of zinc, then unprofitable.

The properties have gold, silver, lead and zinc showings, with the latter predominating.

The property was acquired in 1951 and a 5½-mile road has been constructed from Camborne to the mine. The camp buildings have been rehabilitated and work has been done to clear the 2,400 feet of existing underground workings.

President of the company is J. Dalziel of Victoria, with O. H. Sollbakke, Seattle, as vice-president. The directors are Carl S. [illegible] McCarter and C. Beeching, all of Victoria.

TEXTILE DOLDRUMS

Probably the most depressed of Canadian industries at the present time is the textile business, which is centred largely in Quebec.

If the rayon mills are taken into consideration as well, over 9,000 persons have been thrown idle in the textile industry since last May. Of those still in employment the average working week is 7 hours short of the national average.

Production in the industry has shrunk steadily during the past 6 months.

Not even the big defense contracts have kept the market alive and prices have been lowered from between 15 to 27 per cent.

Some textile firms believe that the new year will see a strengthening of the demand for textiles.

Others are of the opinion that Canadian textile firms can succeed only if they continue to lower costs of production.

It is pointed out that in the United States, the adjacent New England mills have been closing down and moving to the south where labor and other costs were lower.

While the Canadian textile industry is protected by tariff walls, it may be doubted whether even with this assistance, the Quebec mills can continue to operate competitively with the cheaply produced goods from the southern states.

New Exchange Planned

Canada is shortly to have another stock exchange. Negotiations are proceeding with the organization of an exchange at Edmonton, rated as Canada's fastest growing industrial area.

Hitherto Calgary has been the only stock market in Alberta.

CALGARY, Jan. 27 (CP).—Daily average crude oil production in Alberta for the week ended Jan. 21 was 131,644 barrels, compared with 130,931 barrels daily for the week ended [illegible]

Arrests Follow Chase

A wild car chase at speeds up to 80 miles an hour was described in police court yesterday after two Gordon Head soldiers pleaded guilty to two separate charges of taking cars without the owners' consent on Saturday night.

M. A. Taylor and Clytus Lalonde admitted in police court yesterday that they took a 1936 model car from Pandora Avenue. Lalonde admitted a similar offense earlier from Fisgard Street.

Sgt. Robert Davidson was on duty at Hillside and Shelbourne when he saw a card go through a stop sign. He gave chase and finally stopped the car in a dead-end street in the Uplands.

Lalonde, who pleaded guilty to the Fisgard offense, was with Taylor, who was driving the car taken from Pandora Avenue.

Magistrate H. C. Hall adjourned the case to today for sentence.

The first place actually called a "restaurant" was an establishment opened in the Rue Des Poulies in Paris in 1765.

Banks Await Word On New Procedure

Victoria banks are awaiting instructions as to procedure to be adopted when Saturday closing comes into effect Feb. 16.

"We have had no indication as yet whether we shall try to provide some facilities for handling or storing customers' cash which they normally deposit during the short Saturday session," said one banker.

At the same time he pointed out that in the United States, where Saturday bank closing is general, certain facilities have been made available.

In some U.S. cities use is made of night safety deposit boxes in which customers can make their own deposits. In other cities one bank is kept open late each Friday evening on a rotation basis.

The local bank clearing house, however, has had no instructions from headquarters and has not yet discussed the situation.

Bankers today said that up to now they have received few protests.

"It does not make such a very great difference," said one banker. "Saturday is the big day here for most stores, and as we at present close at 11 a.m. on that day, the stores have to keep their Saturday takings until Monday in any case."

Bouncing Boy Survives Fall

NEW YORK, Jan. 28 (AP).—Seven-year-old Albert Magee, bouncing on his bed Sunday night, went right out a fifth-story window — and bounced right up when he hit the ground. He walked away. Police said he landed on a rain-softened patch of dirt and apparently suffered no injuries.

NORWICH, Eng.—(CP)—A fund to restore the 315-foot spire of the 12th century cathedral here has passed the £40,000 mark. Authorities estimated that £65,000 was needed for immediate repairs.

Uncle Wiggily Story - - -

By Howard Garis

MISS MOUSE GOES COASTING

Uncle Wiggily was still down in the hole of the big snowdrift. But help was on the way to get him out. For Grandpa Whackum the beaver, while walking along the coasting hill,

"I forgot Busters sled!"

had heard the calls for help that were shouted by Mr. Longears.

Grandpa Whackum promised to use his big broad, flat tail like a rotary snow plow to make a tunnel so Uncle Wiggily could get out of the hole.

For a time, deep down in the snow as he was, Uncle Wiggily could hear the swirling noise made by the beaver gentleman's tail. The rabbit could also hear the swish of the snow as the tunnel was being dug closer and closer to him. But when Uncle Wiggily called to ask how much longer it would be before he might be rescued, there was no answer.

"Oh, goodness me sakes alive and a basket full of soup bunnies and jelly beans!" exclaimed Mr. Longears. "Maybe Grandpa Whackum has stopped digging the tunnel! Maybe he has forgotten all about me!" Then Uncle Wiggily called again: "Where are you, Whackie?"

"I am coming as fast as I can," was the answer of Grandma Whackum. "I had to stop digging the tunnel and rest a little."

"Oh, excuse me," said Uncle Wiggily politely. "I did not intend to hurry you, but my pink nose is getting cold."

"I will soon have you out," replied the beaver. "The tunnel is almost finished." There were more swishing sounds of whirling snow from the twirling tail of the beaver. Then, suddenly, Grandma Whackum came backing right into the snow hole where Uncle Wiggily was standing.

"Here I am, Wiggy!" greeted Grandpa Whackum, turning around and shaking the snow off his fur. "Sorry to have kept you waiting, but the tunnel was longer than I thought."

"Thank you ever so much," said the rabbit gentleman. "Now let's get out of here before the snow tunnel caves in on us."

"This tunnel won't cave in," said Grandpa Whackum. "I packed the snow too hard with my tail. But I suppose we might as well get out."

So the beaver and the rabbit began crawling out of the tunnel. It was not large enough for them to stand up. They were halfway out when Uncle Wiggily stopped suddenly and exclaimed:

"Oh, my goodness! I forgot Buster's sled. I left it in the snow hole. I must go back and get it."

"Then you'll have to crawl backward," said the beaver. "The tunnel is not wide enough for you to turn around and go frontward."

"That's all right. I can crawl backward," said Uncle Wiggily. This he did and was soon again in the snow hole. He tied the rope of Buster's sled around his waist and once more started to crawl out of the tunnel. In a short time Uncle Wiggily and Grandpa Whackum were safely out on the side of the coasting hill.

"Don't you want to coast with me on Buster's sled down Snow Hill?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"I think it would be fun," answered Grandpa Whackum. "I will sit on the back of the sled and steer with my big tail. You can sit in front. It ought to be very jolly."

It was and the rabbit and beaver had many coasts. Then a bell rang and out of Hollow Tree School came pouring the animal boys and girls. It was recess time and the Lady Mouse Teacher came out with her pupils.

"Oh what fun!" squeaked Miss Mouse as she saw Uncle Wiggily and Grandpa Whackum coasting. "I wish I could do it."

"Get on Buster's sled, please," invited Uncle Wiggily. "There is room for three of us. Grandpa Whackum will steer with his big flat tail."

So Miss Mouse sat on the sled between the rabbit and the beaver. Down the hill she went coasting, faster, faster, faster! And then something happened.

I will tell you all about it tomorrow, if the milk bottle doesn't tickle the umbrella in the ribs and make it sneeze.

Discussions Watched By Saanich

Saanich municipality is keeping a close watch on negotiations regarding the Gordon Head airpark property.

Victoria city council last week upheld a recommendation from a committee that the city seek to retain the property with no restrictions attached.

B.C. Aviation Council secretary S. Leslie Bruce wrote the city last week on behalf of the council, asking retention of the property for possible future use as an airpark.

Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich said yesterday that as far as he is concerned the property will not be rezoned for airpark use without consent of the people.

A referendum in 1949 asking whether rezoning for the property should be carried out, was defeated. Rezoning of the property would require another referendum, he said.

The property was purchased by the city from the federal government for $20,000. It is located, however, in Saanich municipality.

The city is awaiting word from Crown Assets Disposal Corporation regarding any steps which may be taken to acquire the property without restrictions.

Minor Hockey "Night" Proves to Be Rousing Success

Minor hockey night at Memorial Arena last night proved to be huge success with estimated crowd of nearly 3,000 watching games in peewee, bantam, midget and junior sections featuring five Victoria teams, bantam team from Nanaimo, midget team from Kerrisdale and junior team from New Westminster. Above photo shows Mel Neilsen, former star of Vancouver Canucks, talking to his first-string line. It did no good, however, with junior Royals going down to 6-3 defeat. Players, from left to right, are: Barry Landa, Bob Fay and Doug Craddock.

Large crowd included hundreds of youngsters who would like nothing better than to emulate Rocket Richard or some other N.H.L. star. Among them were David Tidouy and John Parton, who watch with rapt expressions.

Will Wilson Heads Saanich Anglers---To Retain Ladder Derby Second Year

Will Wilson was named to head the Victoria Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association in 1952 and members of the association voted to again sponsor a ladder derby during their annual general meeting held at Club Sirocco last night.

Elected to assist the popular sportsman in his duties as president of the 18-year-old club were: Cliff Heglin, first vice-president; Dave Donaldson, second vice-president, and George Douglas, secretary-treasurer.

Named as directors were Harry Woolston, Capt. A. C. Crutchley and Wes Fulton. Ray Ritchie, John Angus and Andy Anderson will serve the association in the capacity of trustees.

The question of whether or not to continue with the ladder derby occasioned a long discussion. Despite the financial licking suffered last season the meeting decided to give the competition another try.

It was felt that with the experience gained in the initial venture into this type of fishing contest, with an improvement over last summer's indifferent angling success in the inlet the executive could make the operation a success. However, members decided to raise membership fees from one to two dollars. Junior membership will remain the same.

Another topic that evoked considerable discussion was the proposal advanced by the federal fisheries department that grilse could not be legally taken unless a minimum of sixteen inches in length. The meeting instructed the secretary to advise the department that the V.S.I.A.A. protested the proposal.

First vice-president Dave Gray read the president's report to the meeting. Gray noted that while the club did not have a successful financial year in 1951—due primarily to losses resulting from the ladder derby—the annual Solarium derby had been very successful and the association membership stood at 1,135.

TROPHIES PRESENTED

Gray also made the presentations to winners of the club's perpetual trophies. C. V. McConnell, whose 35½-pound salmon topped members' catches, was awarded the Cy Bernard Trophy and the Melrose Trophy. He also received a diamond button for permanent possession.

Mrs. Sophie Heglin garnered the Brock Whitney Cup for weighing in the largest salmon taken by a woman member.

Tom Alexander weighed in the largest number of button fish and took the largest fish on a Wednesday between May 1 to August 31, receiving the Poodle Dog Cup and the Melrose Trophy for his efforts. Keith Glabraith took top honors in the junior division—the Ian May Trophy.

Capt. Crutchley, Tommy Ward and McConnell were presented with honorary life memberships by the association.

Regina Claims Largest 'Spiel

REGINA, Jan. 28 (CP). — Regina is claiming that its 48th provincial bonspiel is the biggest in the world. The Regina bonspiel boasted 344 rinks when entries closed at noon today.

The Winnipeg bonspiel, with 300 rinks, previously was generally recognized as the largest rock-fest anywhere.

IT BEATS ME

By Jim Tang

Well, it's down to cases as far as the baseball situation here is concerned. This is Tuesday morning and there are only 72 hours left in which to raise the money needed to retain Victoria's Western International Baseball League franchise. It's high time that there was less of recrimination and more co-operation.

That Victorians want professional baseball is evident if only by the amount of criticism levelled at club officials since the "Save Baseball" fund drive started. The writer has listened to, and argued with scores of fans and read dozens of letters. Most of the time, unfortunately, no one had any constructive suggestion to make. There was always stern criticism and often villification that bordered on libel.

Griping was to be expected. Mistakes have been made, although not as many or as grievous as most fans seem to believe, but the loudest griping has come from people who are not baseball fans and never will be baseball fans. They seem to derive a considerable amount of satisfaction in doing all they can to ensure the failure of the drive for funds. I would suggest that those who have no interest in baseball take no interest in the effort to retain it and those that have start to do something about keeping it.

And on the same theme, I would like to state my belief that the Junior Chamber of Commerce was certainly remiss in refusing to get behind the drive. This was a disheartening blow and the excuse that "we are too busy" is too feeble to even receive sympathetic consideration. Retention of baseball, with all of its many attendant benefits, would seem to be at least as worthy an effort as "Paint-up, clean-up week" or several other causes to which this group annually lends its support. It was an extremely disappointing decision and one which lends no lustre to this organization.

It's for the Little Fellow

Critics would do well to spend a day at the fund offices set up by the Athletics' Booster Club in the Douglas Hotel. They might come away with a different conception of the importance of baseball to this community. Dozens of youngsters have come in and given what they could. Among them were such as George Philion and Anthony Southwell, both about seven, who came in to donate 10 cents each with the appeal "don't let baseball go out of town." There was also 13-year-old Ellen Stuart, who took five dollars out of her bank account to make a deposit on the purchase of a $25 share.

And there was Harvey Alexander, 731 Princess Avenue, who sent in five dollars. "I would like to give this to your fund," he wrote. "I can't see baseball but one of the joys I get out of living is to listen to the broadcasts." Mr. Alexander is blind.

There are many hundreds more who feel like this about baseball, including officials of the booster club who have let personal affairs take a beating for the past 10 days while they gave their all in an all-out try to keep baseball. But they can't carry the whole load. Baseball is mainly for the youngsters and the "small" people—and we are in the majority by far—and there is a limit to what we can do in a financial way. It is up to the business men, civic, service and fraternal groups—and the Junior Chamber of Commerce—to take up the slack. Approximately 700,000 people have paid to watch the A's play in six seasons. This must be irrefutable evidence of the spot baseball holds in our community.

This is a new deal. There is nothing hidden about the resignation of the present directors of the Victoria Baseball and Athletic Co. Ltd. Under the laws of our country they have to stay in office until the annual meeting. At that time a new group of officials will be named to take over and all those who have a stock interest will be entitled to do the naming. The past is past and living in it will not keep baseball here. Surely if Regina, Calgary and Edmonton can raise upwards of $100,000 each year by various means to keep a football team, Victoria can manage $35,000 to retain baseball. It can be made to pay its way but even if it loses a little each year it would still be an excellent community investment. Come on Victoria, surely we have the community spirit and the civic pride to put this over.

Large Crowd Watches as Youngsters Show Form In Four-Game Program for Operational Funds

Monday, Jan. 28 will be a night long to be remembered in the annals of the Victoria Minor Hockey Association. It climaxed a three-week period of hard-working preparation by league officials to bring Victoria's hockey enthusiasts one of the best hockey cards presented at the Memorial Arena in many a day.

Close to 3,000 fans turned out last night and temporarily forgot the current woes of the Cougars to see a five-hour hockey jamboree that was well worth the price of admission. Given time and encouragement, Victoria should have no trouble producing future Legers, Dorohoys and Cotnoirs from the array of talent that graced the rink last night.

League officials were more than pleased at the large turnout and a goodly sum will be turned over to the association to buy equipment for the youngsters.

Doug Grimston, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, was in attendance and spoke briefly before the final contest.

All told, the Victoria pucksters had a good evening against the visiting squads from Nanaimo, Kerrisdale and New Westminster.

In the curtain-raiser, the Victoria Bantam All-Stars skated to a decisive 10-1 decision over Nanaimo. Paced by Robbie Large's five-goal effort, the city squad had little trouble with the visitors.

Capitals and Royals hooked up in the second contest and produced some of the liveliest action of the night as they battled to a 1-1 draw.

Kerrisdale midgets made the only blemish on the otherwise clean Victoria slate. Showing a fast, hard-checking crew, the Mainlanders overcame an early Victoria goal to trounce the city squad, 5-1.

Steve Foster scored the only Victoria marker on a pass from Brian Erb.

In the finale, Victoria junior All-Stars skated to a convincing 6-3 win over New Westminster's junior Royals.

Back-checking furiously, the city team seldom let the visitors organize a concentrated attack, and when they did they found Victoria's netminder, George Hall a definite stumbling block.

Cunningham, with a goal and two assists, led the winners.

Next games, tonight: Calgary at Vancouver, Edmonton at Saskatoon.

Victoria Cougars will have a grand chance to make up on lost ground this week-end.

The defending P.C.H.L. champions, currently holding down last spot, get a crack at the two teams they will have to beat out on Memorial Arena ice, meeting Calgary Stampeders on Friday and Vancouver Canucks on Saturday. A double victory would certainly enhance the Cougars' chances of catching a playoff berth, particularly if Stamps have a rough time on their third coast invasion.

TOUGH SCHEDULE

The Calgarians start off tonight at Vancouver and have to play five games in the next seven nights. The Canucks face New Westminster Royals on Friday in addition to playing Cougars and Stamps while the Victorians have only two games this week. Also on the bright side as far as the Cougars are concerned is that they have home ice for their following two games—against Edmonton next Tuesday and New Westminster next Friday.

Stampeders have seven games left with both Edmonton and Saskatoon, three with Seattle, one with Vancouver and two each with Tacoma, Victoria and New Westminster. The Cougars have four games left with Tacoma and Seattle, two with Edmonton, Saskatoon and Calgary and six with New Westminster. They also have five left with Canucks and the playoff spot may well be decided by the results of these games.

Canucks have five games left with Royals, four with Tacoma, two with Seattle, and one with Edmonton, Saskatoon and Calgary in addition to the five with the Cougars. There seems little over-all advantage in the remaining schedule of the three trailers.

LEGER STILL HOPEFUL

There was no announcement from the Cougar camp yesterday except from coach Roger Leger, who stated his team would work out strenuously all week and that he was certain it would win the week-end games.

Centre Doug Anderson will miss the workouts, Leger planning to give his injured knee every chance to get better. He is expected to be in top form Friday.

Only one game was played Sunday, Tacoma's hustling Rockets consolidated their third-place position by coming from behind to tie the Ironmen, 4-4, at Seattle. The Rockets scored twice in the last 92 seconds, the last goal with goalie Doug Stevenson replaced by a sixth attacker, to gain the point.

PHOENIX, Ariz., Jan. 28 (AP). — Lloyd Mangrum, golf's leading money winner last year, took his first 1952 victory here Sunday in the $10,000 Phoenix Open golf tournament.

Mangrum had 70 and came in five strokes ahead of his nearest competitor. He won $2,000.

Second place went to E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who fired Sunday's best round, a 67, for a 279 total over the 72 holes.

Ted Kroll, winner of last week's San Diego Open, captured third place with a 73 for 280.

Julius Boros, Cary Middlecoff and Fred Hawkins ended with 281.

Next came Jack Burke, Jr., and Jim Ferrier, each with 282.

LaMotta Loses

A near sellout crowd of 12,915 booed the decision of the thrilling bout that saw both fighters battle toe-to-toe in several rounds.

Youngest Clarkson Star As Team Extends Series

Paul Clarkson, youngest member of the famed Clarkson family, and St. Louis College's intermediate B boys' basketball team stole the spotlight during the basketball card at Victoria High School last night.

UPSET VICTORY

St. Louis College scored startling upset by edging Mount View High School, 27-25, to force a third game in the best-of-three series for the association's intermediate B boys' playoff championship. Mount View took the first game, 33-24.

Clarkson was the big gun in the victory. After Mount View had taken a one-point lead with one minute to go, he intercepted a pass and raced down the floor to put the college back in front. Dick Sleep was fouled on the next play and made the free shot to insure the win. Clarkson led the St. Louis College scorers with eight points.

MacDonalds took a one-game lead in the best-of-three series in the senior B women's playoffs by whipping Moose Lodge, 32-24. The second game in the series will be played tonight at 7.30, with the third game, if necessary, tomorrow. Dickinson & Dunn will meet Victoria Individuals in an exhibition game tonight at 8.30.

In a midget boys' exhibition game last night, St. Louis College defeated Tillicums, 27-11.

Line-ups follow:

MacDonalds—Lewis 2, MacDonald 2, Pickering 8, Kennedy 11, Slater 8, Dodsworth, Sherman, Thomas, Clark 1. Total 32.

New Committee to Spearhead All-Out Fund Effort

Plans were laid yesterday for a concerted and, necessarily, short drive to put the "Save Baseball" fund over the top.

Although nothing definite was announced, it was learned that a committee, reportedly to be headed by Stuart Keate, has been formed to canvass "special names" during the next three days to help boost the fund to the required figure.

Retention of the Victoria Western International Baseball League franchise needs $35,000 and the dealine has been set by the league as Feb. 1, which is Friday.

Fund officials received a disappointing setback Sunday when the Junior Chamber of Commerce declined to get behind the fund campaign at a special meeting.

A spokesman for the Chamber issued the following statement in explanation:

"After careful consideration and review of all the facts with regard to our soliciting funds for the 'Save Baseball' fund, we deeply regret that although it favors the continuance of baseball in Victoria, the Chamber is unable to actively participate in the fund-raising campaign owing to the heavy schedule of projects and activities previously arranged which is already taxing the time and energy of the active membership."

It was intimated by a member, however, that the decision might have been different had the organization been approached earlier and it is known that several Jaycees have volunteered to do what they can to help individually.

Meanwhile, officials of the Athletics Booster Club met yesterday afternoon and decided to keep up their drive until the deadline although obviously disappointed with the response to date. Pledges and donations taken by the A.B.C. amount to about $2,800.

Among the pledges yesterday was a cheque from the Duncan and District Baseball Association, for a $25 share. It was accompanied by a cheering letter over the signature of J. S. Gergle, expressing the opinion that the drive would succeed.

Nanaimo Wins From Wheelers

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP).—Red Carr's goal in overtime tonight gave Nanaimo Clippers a 2-1 Pacific Coast Senior Amateur Hockey League win over Vancouver Wheelers.

Don Berry put Nanaimo into the lead when he opened the scoring in the second period and Al Rittinger brought Vancouver abreast of the Island team in the third to force the overtime.

First period—Scoring, none. Penalties: Rittinger, Pennell (10-mins. misconduct).

Second period — 1, Nanaimo, Berry (Brown) 3.24. Penalties: Pennell, McDougald, Lundmark.

Third period — 2, Vancouver, Rittinger (Ferguson) 6.07. Penalties: none.

Overtime—3, Nanaimo, Carr (Kirk, Culley) 9.35. Penalties: none.

Maroons and Senators will meet in a Victoria Minor Hockey Association midget division game at Memorial Arena tonight at 6 p.m.

Canucks To Get Carveth

Joe Carveth, former star with the Detroit Red Wings, left Cleveland yesterday for a job as playing-coach with the Vancouver Canucks.

Now 33, Carveth has been playing with Cleveland Barons of the A.H.L. He will replace Murph Chamberlain, who left Vancouver to coach the Buffalo Bisons.

Nothing was announced about the status of Hugh Currie, who has handled the team since Chamberlain left.

Carveth has spent 11 seasons in the National Hockey League, seven of them and part of another were with Detroit. He also saw action in the "big time" with Boston Bruins and Montreal Canadiens.

His best was the 1943-44 season, when he collected 56 points for Detroit, made up of 21 goals and 35 assists. Last year he scored 48 points for Indianapolis of the A.H.L.

ADELAIDE, Australia, Jan. 28 (CP)—Ken McGregor scored the biggest court upset of the year today when he whipped Frank Sedgman, 7-5, 12-10, 2-6, 6-2, to win the Australian tennis championship.

Sedgman appeared far off his usual form. He failed to hold leads of 5-2 in the first set and 3-0 in the second and wasn't even a threat in the final set.

It was the first Australian championship for McGregor, who had reached the final round three times.

Increased U.S. Imports Requested by Big Four

HAMILTON, Jan. 28 (CP).—The Interprovincial Rugby Football Union is going along with the Western Conference on the import problem at Saturday's [illegible] the Big Four decided to recommend to the Canadian Rugby Union that eight United States imports, instead of seven, be permitted.

ONLY 17 CANADIANS

It was decided to carry only 17 Canadian players on club rosters after Sept. 1. The total roster will number 25 with eight imports, but, as usual, each team will have until Oct. 1 to select their imports.

A recommendation for split gates was defeated. Hamilton and Ottawa asked a 25 per cent cut for visiting teams, with Montreal and Toronto opposing the move. Eric Craddock, immediate past-president, cast the deciding vote against the split. Instead, a league pool will be developed to assist any team.

ASK GREY CUP SERIES

The Big Four will again recommend to the C.R.U. a two-game, total-point Grey Cup playoff with games in Toronto and Montreal.

The Big Four will also like to see the C.R.U. change the substitution rules so that players will not have to wait on the sidelines for one play before entering the game. They would also like the time allowed players entering the game be extended from 20 to 25 seconds.

ASK PASS CHANGE

The group recommended that caught screened passes be ruled complete when they do not cross the line of scrimmage and that the ball be put in play 15 yards from the sideline instead of the present 10.

The Grey Cup-champion Ottawa Rough Riders were the only club in the union to lose money last season. Even with the Grey Cup split, Ottawa lost about $2,000. Toronto, Hamilton and Montreal each got 15 per cent of the east's share. Montreal and Hamilton cleared about $20,000 each on the season and the Argos also made money, but didn't disclose how much.

FINAL DRAWS $129,618

The Grey Cup gross was $129,618. The three-way split to the Big Four, the Western Interprovincial and the C.R.U. resulted in cuts of $39,691 with $1,050 taken from each cut to go toward the cost of the new C.R.U. tarpaulin.

Charlie Lawson of Hamilton is retiring Big Four president. President-elect is John R. Welch of Ottawa.

McNulty Sold To Sacramento

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 28 (AP).—As a move to bolster their pitching staff, Sacramento Solons have purchased Ray McNulty from Salem Senators of the Western International Baseball League, General Manager Charles Graham announced tonight.

The 28-year-old McNulty is a resident of Roseville, Calif., and had a trial two years ago with the Portland Beavers as an infielder. He turned to pitching last year and won 14 games and lost nine in the W.I.L.

McNulty is being bought on a conditional basis, Graham said.

First half of first annual steelhead derby sponsored by Cowichan Fish and Game Association was held Saturday and Sunday. Henry James took lead for main prize and won Sunday's top prize with 15-pound, seven-ounce catch.

Saturday's top prize was won by Dick Clapham, 13-year-old Metchosin angler, who landed 14-pound, five-ounce fish. Final half of derby will be held Feb. 16 and 17.—(Photos by Stan Cummer.)

Brooks Make Sure Of Training Base

BROOKLYN, Jan. 28 (AP).—Brooklyn Dodgers and the city of Vero Beach, Fla., today signed a 21-year contract for use of the Dodger town spring training base—one of the longest training pacts ever.

Walter O'Malley, Dodger president, said the Dodgers also have an option to renew for 21 more years after the contract expires. It becomes effective Feb. 1.

As part of the agreement, the Brooklyn club and at least 50 per cent of its farm clubs will train at Vero Beach each year.

"It was the largest crowd I have seen there in 30 years," Charlie Lewis, president of the Victoria and District Football Association exclaimed yesterday.

He was referring to the large number of spectators who took advantage of the sunshine Sunday afternoon to turn out for the senior soccer match at Lower Beacon Hill.

Lewis estimated 1,200 watched Legion and Esquimalt battle to a 1-1 draw. The tie moved both clubs into a second-place tie with Victoria City.

All scoring was done in the first 20 minutes. Jimmy Spencer put Legion into the lead after five minutes of play and Bill Walker tied it up about 12 minutes later.

Legion goalie John Moss was the standout as he took over in the second half to turn back the pressing Dockyarders.

The association will hold an executive meeting Thursday at the British Public Schools Club to choose an all-star team to oppose Victoria United in the coming benefit game Feb. 9. The meeting will start at 8 p.m.

Golf--- Here's How

By SAM SNEAD
Golf's Greatest Player-Teacher

After you start your backswing you keep those hands moving up and leave it to the hip pivot, and, particularly, the shoulder pivot to furnish the back and around action. If you try to add to the around movement by just pushing your hands back and around you'll probably wind up with your hands stopping over your right arm in a flat swing instead of having your hands up between your right shoulder and your ear when you're at the top. Now notice the arrow pointing to the left knee. At this point the left knee breaks in toward the right permitting you to gather your hip and shoulder pivot without body sway. For the left toe keeps a firm grip on the ground and the left heel rises making possible the relaxing of your left leg. Raising the left heel also keeps the knees even, thus preventing left-side sag.

Aussies Near Test Triumph

SYDNEY, Australia, Jan. 28 (Reuters).—West Indies required 304 runs with eight wickets standing to beat Australia at the end of the third day's play in the fifth and final test here today.

Australia, 216 for four wickets at Saturday's close, were all out 40 minutes before tea today for 377, leaving West Indies needing 116 runs. At the close of play the tourists had scored 112 for two wickets.

Gerry Gomez, who wrecked the Australia first innings, had three second innings wickets for 58 giving him match figures of 10 for 113.

Cowichan Yields 29 Fish On First Two Derby Days

DUNCAN, Jan. 28.—First half of four-day steelhead derby, being staged by Cowichan Fish and Game Association, was held in the Cowichan River Saturday and Sunday.

Although the water level had risen slightly during the previous two days, fishing was excellent with 29 steelhead weighed in during the two days. Second half of what is hoped will be an annual event will be held on Saturday and Sunday, February 16 and 17.

Leading at the end of the two days with a 15-pound seven-ounce fish was Stanley James, who made his catch with a shrimp as a lure on Sunday. James won the top daily prize and has a good chance of winning the main derby prize of a rod complete with spinning reel.

James broke his rod when the fish struck but managed to hold it on his line long enough.

A Metchosin youngster, 13-year-old Dick Clapham, took the lead on Saturday when he caught a 14 pound, five-ounce steelhead about 15 minutes after he made his first cast. Clapham won the main daily prize.

Average weight of fish caught was about the same for both days about eight and a half pounds. Seventeen fish were taken Saturday with an aggregate weight of 146 pounds while 12 were taken Sunday totaling 102½ pounds.

Most successful fisherman was Ron Gammie, who landed two each day and released several others. His top fish weighed 14 pounds, two others hit the scales at eight and one just missed seven pounds. George Syrotuck took two Saturday and one Sunday, the largest weighing 12¾ pounds while William Thomas caught his limit of three and A. O. Evans had two Saturday.

Saturday's catches in order of size: Dick Clapham 14-5, Stan Bonsall 11-17, George Syrotuck 12-12 and 6-1½, A. O. Evans 11-1 and 8-1, Ed Mould 8-11, James Clough 8-6, James Burdess 8-1, Ron Gammie 8 and 6-14, T. McCormick 7, William Thomas 6-8, 6-5 and 6-14, Henry James 6-5, R. A. Pederson 6-1.

Sunday's catches in order of size: Henry James 15-7, Ron Gammie 14-0½ and 8, R. A. Pederson 10-1½, D. A. Evans 9-7, Bernard Falconberg 7-11 and 5-7½, Ken Berkey 7-4, Bruce Peterson 7-2, George Syrotuck 8-11, A. J. McNeil 6-3½, W. E. Chester 6-1½.

Three Services Boost Strength

OTTAWA, Jan. 28 (CP).—Canada boosted the strength of her three regular armed forces by 26,500, or roughly 42 per cent, in 1951, the Defence Department reported Saturday.

If she nets that many more in 1952, she will hit her 115,000-by-1954 target a full year ahead of schedule.

At the end of December there were 88,257 men in uniform, compared with 61,779 at the end of 1950, an increase of 26,478.

At the end of 1951, the navy had 12,719 men, the army 45,986, the air force 29,552. At the end of the previous year, the navy had 10,199, the army 32,715, the air force 18,865.

The first known map to show parts of North America was produced by the Italian Contarini in 1506.

Burglars Get Little

Hard-working burglars wound up with next to nothing in a series of week-end breaking and entering cases in Victoria.

An attempt was made to enter a coffee shop at 2505 Government by breaking a window in the front door. Glass was broken in the rear door of Empire Plumbing and Heating, 706 Kings. Nothing was reported missing.

Cigarettes and $5 in cash are missing from Mac's Java Cup, 617 Gorge Road. A window was broken.

Biggest loss was at 823 Pandora, where thieves broke a window and took cheques worth $87 and $7 in cash.

At Buckerfields Limited, 2105 Douglas, a safe and office drawers were ransacked.

Thieves drew a blank when they broke into Alberta Meat Market, 1116 North Park. Nothing is missing, according to police.

GREAT HARBOR

With an area of 450 square miles, the harbor of San Francisco is the largest on the United States Pacific Coast.

Veteran Poses N.A.T.O. Question

Can North America continue to rearm and rebuild Europe without lowering its standard of living to a marked extent and undermining its own economic structure?

That is the big problem facing the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, and unless it can be solved N.A.T.O. may collapse "with disastrous international results."

This point was stressed in a talk to the Canadian Club yesterday by Lt.-Col. K. R. Swinton, veteran of Vienna, veteran of the Canadian Army, and vice-president of a large radio firm in Toronto.

Canada's particular problem, he said, was whether to contribute military or economic aid to the alliance.

GOOD FOR MORALE

He referred to the Canadian brigade recently sent to Europe, and said the action had a "fine psychological effect." Communist propaganda, he said, has claimed that "America will defend Europe to the last European."

"It is good psychology to have Canadians and military personnel of other western nations stationed in Europe."

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization has brought about tremendous changes in international ideas and outlooks, Col. Swinton asserted.

He described N.A.T.O. as "strictly a defensive set-up . . . in which we have gathered together to protect ourselves and each other against aggression by Russia."

THE desire of a little girl to keep her famous composer father ... at the piano led to the composition of what has become the favorite show-off tune of untrained pianists. The girl's name was Gania Borodin; her father was the renowned Russian composer Alexander Borodin. Gania asked her father one mid-19th century day if she could play a duet with him. He didn't believe she could play at all, but smilingly listened while she introduced "Chopsticks" with one finger of each hand. Intrigued, her father improvised a two-hand bass accompaniment as she played. Later, he wrote a mazurka and a funeral march adopted from the tune and in time more than a dozen other variations (including works of Rimsky-Korsakov and Liszt) were written. A fascinating history for a much played piece with a background that is to many anonymous.

Group of Water Colors On Display This Week

By Special Reviewer

Probably we shall never find a wholly plausible way of accounting for the fact that the British, supposedly the most restrained and solid of peoples, have usually felt most at home in water color, the least substantial ... of media. While the continental countries have, of course, carried off the major share of honors in oil painting, none has produced anything quite comparable to the school of water colorists that flourished in Britain in the 18th and the 19th centuries.

UNUSUAL GROUP

At the Arts Centre this week there is being shown an unusual group of 40 water colors and drawings taken mainly from the collection of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Morse of Victoria. Gainsborough, Turner and Whistler are names to conjure with in any history of art, and these are represented in the group. But the particular virtue of the collection lies rather in the fact that, containing as it does examples by most of the key painters of the British school, it amounts to a miniature survey of its broad development.

Mr. Morse collected these works while on service in England during the First World War. He has chosen on the whole to catch the artists in their more intimate and less imposing moods. In many cases, such as those of Turner, Constable and Cotman, the collection affords a rare glimpse of the very early style of the artist concerned. We see Turner, for example, working in a constricted and subdued manner very similar to that of the young Girtin, long before Turner himself had begun his audacious flights into impressionism.

There is a fine Girtin wash drawing of St. Paul's from the Thames that has the genuine sweep and grandeur of Girtin at most attains the monumental; his best; a John Varley that also and a Whistler scene of Hyde Park that is sheer delicacy itself.

But the surprise of the show is undoubtedly the group of seven miniature Ruskins. John Ruskin, the great critic and disciple of Turner, was in his leisure moments also an adventurous and experimental water colorist. These tiny sketches reveal him as an original and sensitive colorist, capable at times of reducing a landscape to almost complete abstraction.

Labor Peace Observed By Minister

Peaceful negotiation of union contracts is the rule rather than the exception today, Labor Minister Milton F. Gregg reports in The Labor Leader newspaper.

The minister said that most of the agreements, of which the department has a record, are renegotiated each year with relatively little disruption to production. Although 4,682 such agreements were in force in Canada during 1950, only 55 work stoppages took place as a result of difficulties in negotiations or renegotiations.

The number of wage and salary earners in Canada covered by provisions of collective agreements in 1950 stood at 1,282,000, an increase of 4.6 per cent over 1949. Uunion membership at the end of 1950 was 1,028,521.

Complaints About CBU Receive Sharp Answer

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP).—About 200 Vancouver listeners to radio station KIRO, Seattle, have complained to the C.B.C. here that CBU, new Vancouver outlet of the C.B.C., is blocking out the American station.

The complaints got short shrift from G. C. W. Browne, chief radio officer for the Department of Transport.

"I have little sympathy for the complainants," he said. "It's Canada first as far as I am concerned. Who are they, Americans living in Vancouver?"

CBR became CBU Friday and moved from 1100 kilocycles on the radio dial to 690. KIRO is located at 710. Seattle is about 140 miles south of Vancouver.

Donald Manson, C.B.C. general manager, said the 20-kilocycle differential should be sufficient to assure good reception of either.

"If they interfere with each other, it must be the result of either poor radio sets or poor tuning," he said.

He explained that the 20-kilocycle separation is more than required under the North American Radio Broadcasting agreement. The last meeting of N.A.R.B.A. at Montreal in 1949 agreed that the C.B.C. could use 690.

KIRO, meanwhile, asked that listeners encountering interference mail a card to the station reporting the type and degree of interference.

A. D. Dunton, chairman of the C.B.C. board of governors, said the 690 frequency was the only clear channel available to the C.B.C. ... satisfactory signal with 10,000 watts.

He said the move would provide better service for many outlying areas of British Columbia.

King Well, Fit After Vacation

LONDON, Jan. 28 (Reuters).—The King, looking well and rested, arrived in London today from his country home at Sandringham, Norfolk, where he was recuperating from his lung operation.

With him were the Queen, Princess Margaret, Prince Charles and Princess Anne. They came to see Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh leave Thursday on their tour of Australia and New Zealand.

Holy Trinity Church Holds Annual Dinner

Annual Holy Trinity Church congregational dinner was held recently in Sooke Community Hall. The sponsors, the Mothers' Union, seated the guests at four long tables, centred with seashells filled with mosses, snowdrops, winter heather and berried shrubbery.

Seated at the head table were Rev. and Mrs. H. M. Bolton, Mrs. Jack Pickering, H. C. Gates, F. L. Paddon, Sidney Davies, W. Lishman, T. Jones. Mr. Bolton thanked the members of the Mothers' Union for arranging the dinner.

Community singing and color films taken and shown by Mr. and Mrs. William Baker of Sooke River concluded the program.

Annual vestry meeting will be held in the church at 3 p.m., today. Reports will be heard and officers elected for 1952.

Mossadegh's Party Wins Clear Victory

LONDON, Jan. 28 (Reuters).—First election results in Tehran for 12 seats in the Majlis (parliament) have shown a sweeping victory for the National Front, Premier Mohammed Mossadegh's party, according to an official Iranian radio report received today. A preliminary count showed the National Front will secure 11 of the 12 seats.

What will his eyes see?

Big things are happening in Canada today

His eyes, so far, have seen little more than his mother's face. Soon they will see further . . . his home, his school, his town, his province, his country—the Canada that one day will be his.

From year to year, The Royal Bank of Canada's Annual Financial Statement is a measure of Canada's vitality and growth. The figures are cold, as figures must be, but the story they tell is an exciting story, for you and for your children.

Total assets of the Royal Bank have now passed the $2.5 billion mark, a figure never before reached in Canadian banking history. Total deposits exceed $2.3 billion, another Canadian record. Interest bearing deposits of nearly $1,124,000,000—the highest point ever reached by the bank—are an indication of the thrift of Canada's citizens. Loans to Canadian farmers, fishermen, to manufacturers, to firms large and small, and to individuals exceed $600,000,000.

These impressive figures are more than an index of the Royal Bank's record of accomplishment; they are a clear indication of Canada's economic health, and the scale of opportunity that is ours.

Culbertson on Bridge - - -

(Copyright 1952 by Ely Culbertson)

For players who are interested in the finer points of defense, the following case is recommended as a "bridge classic."

East, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

NORTH
♥ 10
♦ K Q J 10 8
♣ 7 5 4 3

WEST
♠ 8 6 4
♥ A K J 8 7 6 4 2
♦ 5 3

EAST
♠ 7 3
♥ Q 3
♦ A 7 6 4
♣ Q J 10 9 6

SOUTH
♠ K Q J 10 9
♦ 9 2
♣ A K 8 2

The bidding:

| East | South | West | North |
|---|---|---|---|
| Pass | 1 ♠ | 4 ♥ | 4 ♠ |
| Pass | Pass | Pass | |

Before becoming a defender, West had to resist the temptation to "save" at five hearts against the four-spade contract. Certainly, West had no reason to feel that he could defeat four spades, but he was pretty sure that five hearts would "take a licking" so he passed and hoped for the best.

West made his natural opening lead, the heart king, and East struck a valiant blow for the defense by signalling vigorously with the heart queen. It is to be feared that many West players would read this as a "suit preference" signal, asking for a shift to diamonds, but this West made no such horrible error–he led another high heart. This was ruffed in dummy, and declarer then made the good play of the diamond king. East correctly held up his ace, but when the diamond queen followed, he took the trick and shifted to the queen of clubs.

South of course covered, and it was here that West displayed his imagination! If he ruffed the trick, where would the setting trick come from? Dummy's diamonds were obviously good, and the spade ace would be there for final entry. So west coolly discarded on declarer's club ace!

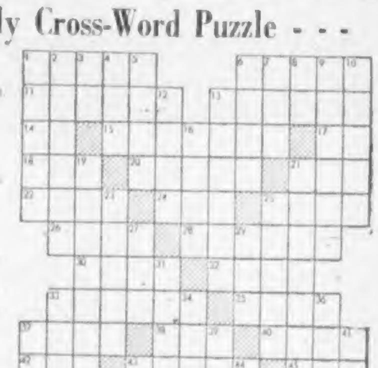

South sensed exactly what was transpiring and laid down the club king to offer West more bait, but again West discarded a heart! South was now helpless. He cashed the spade king and led to dummy's ace, but West ruffed the diamond that was played next. South having discarded a club, and there was still one low club in South's hand that had to go to the defenders. Down one!

Land Being Developed For Veterans' Farms

Federal and provincial authorities are co-operating in the development of a tract of land near Penticton for farmer-veterans.

Provincial Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney said yesterday the tract will provide 90 small holdings which will be sold under the Veterans' Land Act.

Surveys have been completed and groundwork will start as soon as possible.

The co-operating authorities have worked out a deal for financing of land, and roads and domestic and sprinkler irrigation.

The province is co-operating in the scheme with the federal department of agriculture, through the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act Administration, and the Veterans' Land Act Administration.

Naval Rites Set for Capt. Ogle

The Royal Canadian Navy today will pay final respects to a man who played a leading role in the development of the Canadian Services College, Royal Roads.

Funeral services with full naval honors will be held for Capt. William Ogle, M.A., R.C.N. (Ret.), 52, who died Saturday night in the Veterans' Hospital. The services will start at 3 p.m. at McCall's Funeral Chapel, with Padre Ivan Edwards, R.C.N., officiating.

Capt. Ogle came to Royal Roads in 1941 as a navigation instructor, a post held until 1945, when he was appointed director of studies. Illness forced him to retire from that directorship in September, 1949.

He operated a private school for boys at Westmount, Que., before coming to Esquimalt. During the First World War he served in the Royal Navy and the Merchant Marine.

Among survivors are his widow, at home, 2629 Currie Road; two sons, Lieut. William M. Ogle, R.C.N., and I. C. G. Ogle, Victoria; two daughters, Margaret and Isobel, Victoria; his mother, at Windsor, Ont.; and two brothers.

Union Seeks Right to Quit Unsafe Jobs

A "stop-work" clause will be sought by the province's largest union to make it legal to walk off an unsafe job.

International Woodworkers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) safety conference yesterday announced it would recommend that the clause be included in the 1952 labor contract with coast lumber operators.

Recommendations from the safety convention will be passed to the annual I.W.A. convention opening today.

Big Pile Of Mail Unmoved

About 13,000 items of mail will be sent from Victoria to the dead letter office at Vancouver, a Victoria post office official said yesterday.

Left from the Christmas rush season, they were impossible to deliver because of the senders' failure to wrap, pack or address them properly.

Four men were working on directory service attempting to secure proper delivery during the Christmas rush. Two men regularly do nothing else.

Throughout Canada, more than 900,000 items of Christmas mail of all classes posted in Canada were found undeliverable, the post office department reported.

Reds Barred By Smelters, Reports Hold

Doors of Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. are closed to Communists or members of Communist-dominated unions, according to Vancouver reports.

The company has announced the ban affects all applicants for permanent employment.

The announcement is to clear misunderstanding of policy on Communism, which had arisen through issues that had developed between the company and its employees' representatives.

"Many of the issues have been beclouded intentionally by a minority group in certified unions to whom Communism and not trade unionism is the ultimate goal," the company said.

Principal fruit-growing area in England is in the vale of Evesham and the upper Avon valley.

U.B.C.M. Fees Raised

Fees for membership in the Union of B.C. Municipalities have been doubled, city officials were informed yesterday.

A letter from the U.B.C.M. executive has set Victoria's fee at $450 for 1952 as compared to $225 last year. "Greatly increased costs and expenditures" is the reason given for the increase.

A special convention of the U.B.C.M. will be held Feb. 12 in Vancouver to consider education costs and other important matters.

A proposal submitted by a special sub-committee struck at the 49th annual conference to study education costs will be the chief item on the agenda.

The report suggests that cities and district municipalities should pay 20 per cent of all education costs and receive 20 per cent of the Social Security and Municipal Aid tax. At present, they pay 50 per cent of school building costs and receive 33⅓ per cent of the sales tax plus other government grants to cover teachers' salaries and other education costs.

In 1950, for example, the Greater Victoria School Board received grants totaling $559,082 from the provincial government and the municipalities contributed $1,541,347 from taxes.

Bonus Offered To Firemen By Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Jan. 28 (CP).—City council's conciliation committee today indicated all civic workers will be offered a $27-a-month cost-of-living bonus.

Councillors indicated this when they made the offer to the firemen's union, who have asked a 25 per cent increase across the board.

Officials of the firemen's union termed the offer unacceptable.

The city's offer is based on an 11.7-point jump in the cost-of-living index during the last year. The committee stressed that it would not be incorporated into wage scales, and would be scaled up or down depending on how the index varies during the contract year.

Chairman Ald. George Miller said the formula, if applied to all workers, excluding city school teachers, would cost the city $1,500,000.

The firemen's union is asking that the wage of a first-class fireman be raised from $281 a month to $351.

Rail Workers Turn Down Truman Plan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28 (INS).—The Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen today rejected recommendations of a presidential emergency board for settlement of its long-standing wage dispute with the railroads.

The union declared that the proposals "amount to long strides down the road toward slave labor."

D. B. Robertson, brotherhood president, declared that the union's negotiating committee has unanimously agreed that the recommendations fail to provide a basis for settlement.

Representatives of the brotherhood walked out on the board's hearings the day they opened in November.

Two-Cent Price Drop Taken By Some California Produce

Price drops of two cents a pound were recorded on some California vegetables which reached Vancouver Island yesterday.

The lower prices were on lettuce and carrots, with smaller drops on cauliflower and cabbage, wholesalers said. Price decreases were the result of improved weather in California.

Improving conditions also are expected to raise California orange supplies and lower prices in two or three weeks. Oranges are approximately 40 cents a dozen for better grade, it was reported.

In good supply at firm prices are celery, onions and Mexican tomatoes.

Egg prices remain at 50 to 51 cents a dozen wholesale for Grade A large, 48 to 49 cents for Grade A medium, 46 to 47 cents for Grade A small, and 42 cents for Grade B eggs.

Retail prices are five to seven cents higher.

The first permanent settlement in Australia was founded at Sydney, N.S.W., in 1788.

"Cost of inexperience is high

. . . the administration of Estates is not a one-man job but one which requires the day-to-day attention of a full-time, experienced Executor"

Mr. R. A. Laidlaw, President and Chairman of the Board, presided at the fifty-fourth annual meeting of National Trust Company. He welcomed Mr. S. M. Wedd, President of The Canadian Bank of Commerce, Mr. Argue Martin, K.C., of Hamilton, and Mr. Balmer Neilly, President of McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Limited, appointed directors since the last annual meeting. After presenting the Annual Statement, he asked Mr. J. G. Hungerford, Executive Vice-President, to address the meeting. Mr. Hungerford said in part:

Despite higher taxes and a substantial increase in operating expenses, the results of the year's operations have been very satisfactory. Gratifying progress has been made in all departments of the Company's business and total volume of business has reached a new high.

The Province of Alberta, because of its oil, gas, agriculture and new industry, has assumed a place in the Canadian economy so important that your Directors felt it advisable to open a new office in the fast-growing and progressive city of Calgary. We now have two offices in Alberta, our office at Edmonton being established in 1902.

After careful consideration, your Directors have decided to approve the funding of a pension plan on an actuarial basis so that employees of our Company retiring after January, 1952, will be entitled to pensions based on average salary and length of service.

Requirements of an Executor

Trust Companies have come to be recognized as an essential part of the Canadian economic scene and, as such, play a very important role in the life of the community. With the increasing tempo of modern life and the greater complexity of almost every aspect of business, it has become more and more difficult for individuals to deal with the exacting problems of trusteeship.

Expert knowledge of investments, income taxes, succession duties, accounting, and the many other aspects of trusteeship are seldom combined in one person. An intimate working knowledge of all these is necessary for the successful administration of any estate or trust. We are professional trustees, and, as such, our organization consists of what might be termed an aggregation of specialists in every phase of trusteeship. It is in this combination of skills along specialized lines, all-working towards a common goal—the successful administration of estates and trusts—that the real strength of the professional executor and trustee lies.

More and more people are coming to realize that the administration of estates is not a one-man job but one which requires the day to day attention of a full-time experienced executor completely equipped to deal with all phases of estate administration. The cost of inexperience is high; it can quite easily exceed the fees of an experienced corporate trustee.

Evidence of Public Confidence

I am pleased to again be able to report an increase in the number of new appointments received by the Company as executor and trustee. This is the strongest possible evidence of public confidence and an assurance to the shareholders of the Company's future.

We have always stressed the need for the most careful thought in planning the distribution of an estate. With higher taxation and the rising cost of living, it is more important than ever for people to see that the dollars they leave will stretch as far as possible for the benefit of their families and dependents. This really requires consideration by someone who is familiar with the manner in which assets (especially interests in private companies) are valued, and who can review the insurance arrangements and investment holdings, estimate the succession duties and consider the effect of both succession duties and income taxes. Only in this way can the testator know the net amounts which will ultimately be received by his beneficiaries as income or capital, and thus be in a position to judge whether the arrangements he has made are the best under the circumstances. Our officers are giving service of this kind daily and welcome enquiries.

Corporate profits, which are now taxed as high as 54.6%, are again taxed in the hands of shareholders, when paid out as dividends, at the new increased personal income tax rates.

The increase in corporation tax rates, which are now at the highest level since the war years, highlights the effect of double taxation of corporate profits. Further implementation of the Government's declared policy is urged to bring an additional measure of relief from what the Finance Minister himself has referred to as "this defect in our tax system."

In his address at the annual meeting of National Trust Company Limited, Mr. H. H. Wilson, General Manager, said in part:

As you will see from the financial statement, our position is strong. This and a fine reputation are the results of more than fifty years of progressive effort. It is management's duty to see that the Company's financial strength and reputation are not only maintained but improved, and I am happy to report to the shareholders that their greatest asset—a fine and loyal staff—is determined that this will be so. I wish to thank the staff most sincerely for their enthusiastic support and ever-developing team-work.

Trust Company Profits Low

Corporation taxes feed inflation where a company is able to add all or part of the tax into the selling price of its product, and they place a heavy and unfair burden on a company such as ours.

Canadian trust companies have never made a great deal of money, as an examination of their earnings and dividend records will show. For the responsibility assumed and the amount of work and skill required the reward is very small. By far the largest source of our income is from executor's fees set by the courts, which have not been increased in the past thirty years.

Our financial statement shows total assets under administration of $410,360,173 and net profits for our shareholders of $419,791. Taking into consideration our income from other sources, this means that our profit on the administration of estates and trusts was considerably less than $1.00 on every $1000 of assets entrusted to our care.

I do not know whether it is generally realized that a company must now earn three and one-half times as much to pay, in terms of purchasing power, the same dividend it did prior to World War II. The way it works out is this:

| | Profits | Corporation Tax | Net Available for Dividends |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1935-39 | $1.20 | $ .20 | $1.00 |
| 1952 | 4.21 | 2.30 | 1.91 |

$1.91 is the present value of the 1935-39 dollar based on the cost-of-living index.

Taxing authorities should give sympathetic consideration to companies which by the nature of their business are unable to expand earnings rapidly.

Example of Sound Judgment

You might be interested in a case which shows the judgment and care required in the administration of an estate. A man died over ten years ago, appointing us sole executor. His estate consisted almost entirely of interests in companies in allied lines of business. Over the years, repeated offers to buy these interests were rejected by us as not reflecting their intrinsic worth and future possibilities. The companies prospered, and a short time ago we disposed of the estate holdings at more than six times their value at the time of the testator's death. What a tragedy it would have been for the beneficiaries if we had taken the easy course—to sell quickly and re-invest in "riskless" securities.

Most Canadians "Capitalists"

Taxes and inflation affect all Canadians because they threaten everybody's savings or ability to save. This should be of particular concern to the five million owners of life insurance policies, the eight million owners of bank accounts, the one million members of pension funds, and the countless Canadians who hold investments in their own right, because in these various ways the vast majority of Canadians are "capitalists." It should never be forgotten that all capital results from savings.

Our system of free enterprise revolves around profits. Profits, or the chance of profits, are the spark-plug of the system. Canada and the United States, operating under this system, and with only seven per cent. of the world population, produce over one-third of the world's goods. That is why these two countries have the highest standards of living the world has ever seen.

The spark of incentive must be kept alive in Canada if we are to realize our rich inheritance.

Windows Contest Winners Picked

Barbara Cochrane, 886 Gorge Road West, was declared the winner of the Colonist-Odeon Theatre merchant's window contest yesterday.

Selected from a large number of entrants, Barbara is the winner of prizes from six city mer-

The first prize is a pass to the Odeon for two people for two months plus merchandise prizes valued in all at $50.

The 10 consolation prizes of guest tickets for two to the Odeon were won by Earl H. Sheppard, 1788 Fairfield Road; Tanis Monteith, 2144 Granite; Mrs. J. W. Gibbs, Madrona Drive, Sidney, R.R. 1; Mrs. Dorothy Osborne, Metchosin P.O.; Andrew N. Creery, Suite 211, 1001 Douglas; Mrs. Hamilton, 2639 Blanshard; Mrs. C. W. Callow, Bow Road, R.R. 5; Mrs. R. Guyton, 516 Paradise, and Mrs. Eleanora L. Campion, 44 Simcoe.

The contest entailed the reconstruction of a billboard advertising the picture "Valley of Eagles," at the Odeon.

The billboard was cut into six pieces, and the pieces placed in the display windows of six Victoria merchants.

Contestants had only to determine the correct number, shown on the contest blank, for the corresponding sections in the windows.

Folk Singer Proves Pleasant Surprise to Doubters

By RAY BAINES

The relatively small audience which heard folk singer Richard Dyer-Bennet at the Royal Theatre last night seemed to come away pleasantly surprised.

Many were prompted by curiosity, others went (they said so) "just for laughs." If he comes back again, we think they'll go next time because they like this brand of entertainment.

Folk music has been recently elevated to the level of other high-minded arts—partly by his-part of folk lore and folk culture.

LIKE POTTERY

Like Aztec pottery, it helps to acquaint moderns with the lives and habits of former people.

The musical hierarchy is perhaps a little slower to accept it as a challenge to serious music. The melodies are too simple and too similar. The 17th century Irving Berlins who wrote much of the music had little knowledge or instrumental development to work with.

Nevertheless, when you hear someone like Dyer-Bennet rip through a dozen or so of these little-known songs, you don't care a hoot what it is. It's fun to hear and pleasing to watch.

BARBER OF SEVILLE

It was only when he tried a number like "Mark How the Glorious Morning" from the Barber of Seville, that he perhaps drifted a little over his depth.

The rest, the Scottish, Irish and American down-to-earth folk songs with lusty topics and simple themes he handled wonderfully.

The voice, a lyric tenor which drifts into a pure falsetto, is not great by ordinary standards, but highly suitable for this particular medium. Dyer-Bennet's diction is very good and every word could be heard from almost anywhere in the theatre.

The young artist handled the guitar portion of the performance with restraint and admirable technique. About five encores ("I think I have about one more song in me") testified to the audience's gradual warming to the singer.

An amusing musical satire on early English organized religion, "The Vicar of Bray," offended no one and brought loud applause.

We couldn't help feeling how pleasant it might be to sit before a large open fireplace in old clothes with a large jug of ale clutched firmly in hand while this artist presented his program.

In the meantime, we're glad to see that you can sell talent to concert-goers, even if it's something a little different and possibly beneath "good music."

Lack of Youth Organizations Shown

Three-quarters of 410 Greater Victoria high school students do not belong to any kind of organized group.

Greater Victoria Welfare Council recreational division chairman R. E. Lawrance last night reported that questionnaires had been sent out to 800 high school students, and that replies indicate a great need for planned recreation in the city.

"One girl told us she went to six shows a week," Mr. Lawrance said.

Of the 410 who filled out the questionnaire, 288 expressed a desire to belong to an organization of some type.

Students were asked how much weekly spending money they received. Replies showed 154 got between $1 and $2; 153 got more than $2, and in one section of the city, 31 out of 54 students get more than $5 a week.

"A recreation program will be no short-term project. We should not be too hasty," Mr. Lawrence said.

He said his division hopes eventually to call a public meeting, with Mayor Claude L. Harrison or some other well-known citizen present.

FAMILY COURT

The mayor's support for a family court in Victoria must be obtained, or the project is lost, Lloyd McKenzie told the meeting.

Mr. Mackenzie said he was "dispirited" about his aim of getting a family court, and said he didn't think his committee will get the support of city council.

"A family court will cost at least $18,000 a year, and in the eyes of the people who spend money, it is simple to regard the idea as nebulous," he said.

The council will attempt to get information on what other family courts in other parts of the country are doing, and facts and figures on their operation before going further.

FINE CEMENT

Seventeen Persons Lost In Minneapolis Fire

MINNEAPOLIS, Jan. 28 (AP).—Flames that roared through a three-story brick business and apartment building on the edge of the Minneapolis Loop early today left 17 persons missing.

Search for victims was held up by shifting of collapsed floors and the roof. Firemen planned to tear down walls and sections of the floor before probing the debris for bodies.

Fire chief Reynold Malquist said, "We're not at all certain how many persons are missing, but I understand 17 persons have not been located."

Red Cross disaster officials cited the same figure.

Some 31 persons were driven into sub-zero cold, most of them thinly clad, by the blaze. One of two dogs that raced through the smoke-filled hallways and aroused occupants of the building with their barking, perished when it ran back into the building as its owner fled.

Deputy Minister Presents Diplomas

Deputy Minister of Trade and Industry E. G. Rowebottom presented diplomas to 68 graduating members of the International Institute at a banquet in the Monterey dining room last night.

Speaking to 140 members and guests, Mr. Rowebottom spoke on the growth of B.C. during the past 11 years, giving gigures for the past year of the major industries and developments.

Class champions Peggy Gillis, Mollie Robertson, Mrs. Alice Hawes, Frank Rainsford, Don Woodhouse, Ronald Joe, Kenneth Gann, Vincent Rush, Gordon Chope, Dan Lawton, Gordon Batley and Harold Todd all gave short addresses to the assembled guests.

Church Notices Must Be Early

"Boo Man" Harries Churchill

SOUTHAMPTON, England, Jan. 28 (Reuters).—The crowd cheered mightily as Prime Minister Winston Churchill stepped off the liner Queen Mary today, but nobody could ignore the long well-modulated "boo." Putting on his grin, Mr. Churchill walked to a barrier and demanded: "Who is the boo man?" A small voice piped, "it wasn't me, Mr. Churchill."
